⇒ THREE THINGS You Should Know:

Imagine the looks on the faces of cops who pulled over a car one night recently that was traveling in downtown San Francisco in the dark without its headlights on and, more important, without a driver. Nor were there any passengers in the autonomous taxi, says the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. The driverless cab belonged to Cruise, a licensed taxi service, that used social media to explain that "Our AV yielded to the police vehicle, then pulled over to the nearest safe location for the traffic stop, as intended. An officer contacted Cruise personnel and no citation was issued,"

New Location And New Opportunities: Athens Arts Launches "Art On Thursdays"

For more than a decade Athens Arts has enriched our community by displaying the work of local artists, hosting nationwide and regional art shows, and featuring individual guest artists' work. This "jewel of downtown," as it often called, brings visitors in from near and far. In honor of its move to a new location, Athens Arts is offering new opportunities to our community.

To accompany the unveiling of Athens Arts' new home at 216 E. Main Street in June, the gallery staff and board is offering a feast of art opportunities all hosted in the new building (former location of Four Seasons Market).

According to board member Ellie Dieckmeyer, "It's really exciting to premier new activities in a new location. We'll look at our community from a new vantage point in a new place. We'll be teaching several new art mediums: students can learn to print with a Gelli plate or how to do block printing. How to get started with abstract art will be the subject of another class. As always, these classes are causal and fun and we invite everyone to come and

Butch Had Interesting Visitors At The Library

Well, I guess just about everyone who owns a business has had a few "unique" customers through the years, and as the librarian at Darlington for the last 33 years, I have also seen my share of unforgettable patrons and visitors. Here are just a few examples...

On one hot summer day, the library air conditioning could not keep up, and it was about 85 degrees inside...when in walked an older fellow with a packet of papers. He was very nice, extremely intelligent, and knowledgeable about local history. The packet of papers contained the history of a local church, and he brought these in to donate to our reference files. Although I had several books that needed to be catalogued, I made the mistake of inquiring about the history of the church...and for the next THREE hours, this kindly gentleman stood there and told me the COMPLETE history... detail by detail. By the time he was finished, I was starting to drift into a coma. I learned

Remembering Evan Whatshisname

Wouldn't you know it! I've forgotten Evan's last name. It really aggravates me, because Evan is very important to me.

He brings me food. Every Sunday, while young parents and kids are pulling into Applebee's for that special after-church meal, or while grandpa and grandma saunter into the cafeteria for "mush food" (chewing is optional), I have a different ritual. Much too routinely, I show up at the drive-thru window of my local Arby's. Yes, I know. I'm al-ways blaspheming fast food, and yet here I am. I'm sure not going to put a pot roast in the oven for just me. Without fail, I pull to the window and hand Evan Whatshisname my money. Without fail, Evan Whatshisname hands me my food. I wish now that he had handed me his uniform's name plate.

Evan really is not forgettable. He stands approximately 6'4".

JOHN O. MARLOWE With the Grain

I say approximately, because he has to crouch under the frame of the drive-thru window to hand me my food. That's all I've got to go on, because I've never seen Evan from the thighs down. He could easily

IDOE Launches Second Phase of Statewide COVID-19 Relief Spending Dashboard

The Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) yesterday day released the second phase of the statewide COVID-19 relief school spending dashboard. The newest update to the dashboard reflects the categories of spending that are budgeted and then reimbursed for all level districts.

local districts. "Indiana is one of the first states in the nation to provide a publicly available dashboard detailing categorical information about schools' spending of these federal relief dollars," said Dr. Katie Jenner, Indiana Secretary of Education. "Local education leaders are working hard to invest these dollars intentionally and strategically. The impactful investment of these funds continues to drive student learning, educator support, sustainable innovation, and updates to technology and infrastructure that may promote success of

Phase two of the dashboard displays categories of budgeted and reimbursed spending from local school districts' Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief (ESSER) funds and their Governor's Emergency Education Relief (GEER)
funding. This additional local data includes a breakdown of funding focused on instruction.

support services, operations, and facilities.

The dashboard reflects COVID-19 federal relief grant fund reimbursements as part of schools' locally developed spending plans, which are rocused on student learning. Grant allocations and reimbursements from the three rounds of federal ESSER funding, as well as competitive grants that were awarded to schools from federal GEER funding, are reflected in the dashboard. ESSER funding is proportionally allocated to local school districts based on the federal Title I formula. Reimbursements are made to local districts once they spend the funds on approved expenses as part of their locally developed plans.

Across Indiana, $2.8 billion in federal funding has been allocated to local school districts. Currently, more than $735 million in expenditures have been reimbursed -- with school districts continuing to submit for reimbursements on allowable expenses per federal law. School corporations have through September 2022 to encumber the first round of ESSER funding and through September 2023 and September 2024, respectively, to encumber the second and third rounds of their ESSER

CareSource Supports The Milk Bank With $4,500 Donation Amid Formula Shortage

CareSource, a nationally recognized nonprofit health plan, announced today a $4,500 donation to The Milk Bank to sponsor 1,000 ounces of human milk as part of the organization's Give an Ounce campaign. The gift is part of Care-Source's larger effort to increase access to adequate infant nutrition while the country is experiencing an unprecedented shortage of infant

"CareSource recognizes the importance of safe, affordable and accessible nutrition for infants and members and wants to help," said Dr. Cameual Wright, MD, VP, market chief medical officer of CareSource Indiana. "Leveraging our existing partnership with The Milk Bank can support families navigating this crisis."

The Milk Bank can provide up to 40 ounces of donor milk without a prescription. Requests for donor milk have increased 89% since May 1st and requests for financial assistance to obtain donor milk have increased 200% increased 200%. "The Milk Bank's long-term strategy in addressing this unprecedented shortage is to continue to advance breastfeeding as a primary pillar of infant health." said Sarah Long, clinical director of The Milk Bank. "However, we must also provide immediate relief for struggling families who may need support in accessing a safe feeding option for their infants. The continued support CareSource has provided will make more milk available to mothers and families in critical need.'

To discuss your family's needs, call The Milk Bank at 317-536-1670 or complete the application online at themilkbank. org/recipient-app.

CareSource is a nonprofit, nationally recognized managed care organization with over 2 million members. Headquartered in Dayton, Ohio since its founding in 1989, CareSource administers one of the largest Medicaid managed care plans in the U.S. The organization offers health insurance, including Medicaid, Health Insurance Marketplace, Medicare Advantage and dual-eligible programs. Through its network of health plans, Care-Source serves members in Arkansas, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia. The company is leading the way in serving populations with complex needs and extended its presence into 12 additional states with the acquisition of The Columbus Organization, a trusted partner to health care agencies and provider organizations in improving coordination and support for individuals with intellectual/ developmental disabilities and behavioral health challenges through its staffing, quality improvement and care coordination services. As a mission-driven organization, CareSource is transforming health care with innovative programs that address the social determinants of health, health equity, prevention and access to care.

Rock And Roll Up Your Sleeve: Give Blood With The American Red Cross

Elvis Presley is known for being the first global rock and roll icon. He was also a blood donor himself! While times have changed, the need for blood has not \(\Prescript{1}\) donors can leave a lasting legacy themselves by making a lifesaving blood donation with the American Red Cross.

In honor of the new Baz Luhrmann film, Elvis, all who come to give in the month of June will be automatically entered for a chance to win a VIP trip to Graceland for two, including round-trip airfare to Memphis, plus a three-night stay at The Guest House and Elvis Entourage VIP tour, courtesy of Graceland, a custom-wrapped Gibson Epiphone guitar and more. Additionally, those who come to donate June 1-30 will also receive a $5 e-gift card to a merchant of choice.*

It's critically important the Red Cross maintain a stable blood supply for patients this summer. To schedule an appointment to donate, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCross-Blood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767).

Final days of COVID-19 antibody testing

All Red Cross blood, platelet and plasma donations are being tested for COVID-19 antibodies through June 3. Donors can learn if their donation has the antibody levels needed to potentially help COVID-19 patients with a weakened immune system.

Health insights for donors

At a time when health information has never been more important, the Red Cross is screening all blood, platelet and plasma donations from self-identified African American donors for the sickle cell trait. This additional screening will provide Black donors with an additional health insight and help the Red Cross identify compatible blood types more quickly to help patients with sickle cell disease. Blood transfusion is an essential treatment for those with sickle cell disease, and blood donations from individuals of the same race, ethnicity and blood type have a unique ability to help patients fighting sickle cell disease.

Donors can expect to receive sickle cell trait screening results, if applicable, within one to two weeks through the Red Cross Blood Donor App and the online donor portal at RedCrossBlood. org.

Blood drive safety
The Red Cross follows a high standard of safety and infection control. The Red Cross will continue to socially distance and infection control. The ue to socially distance wherever possible at blood drives, donation centers and facilities. While donors are no longer required to wear a face mask, individuals may choose to continue to wear a mask for any reason. The Red Cross will also adhere to more stringent face mask requirements per state and/or local guidance, or at the request of blood drive sponsors. Donors are asked to schedule an appointment prior to arriving at a drive. How to donate blood

Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enable the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at checkin. Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, before arriving at the blood drive. To get started, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass or use the Blood Donor App.

About the American Red Cross:

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides comfort to victims of disasters; supplies about 40% of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; distributes international humanitarian aid; and supports veterans, military members and their families. The Red Cross is a nonprofit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to deliver its mission. Realtors Release April Central Indiana Housing Data; MoCo Housing Market Remains Stable

Data released by MI-BOR REALTOR Association shows increases in virtually all areas of Montgomery County's housing market in the month of April.

Median sales price for homes increased 21.7% from March to April. up to $171,600 from $141,000. Closed sales increased from 41 to 54, a 32% jump, while new listings increased to 55, up from 53 in March.

Average days on market fell from 27 in March to 13 in April, a drop of 52%. Price per square foot increased from $122 to $124, while percentage of asking price received rose from 98.5% in March to 99% in April.

Absorption rate, a measure that takes the number of homes sold in a month and divides it by the number on the market, is used to determine how quickly homes are sold. Economists and housing market analysts generally agree that an absorption rate over 20% (.2) indicates a hot real estate market; Montgomery County's absorption rate stayed level from March to April, at 0.5.

"Once again, we saw Indianapolis home prices increase to a record high median sales price of $275,000, a 15.5% gain over last April and a 3.8% gain over last month," said Shelley Specchio, MIBOR CEO. "Additionally, the percent of list price received at sale rose to an all-time high of 102.1% and average days on market of 15 days declined from 19 days last month and from 18 days at this time last year. This data is proof, although inventory is low, demand remains high. In this market, things will move quickly, and buyers and sellers need a REAL-

TOR for guidance."
Dr. Elliot Eisenberg, an internationally acclaimed economist and public speaker, says, "Despite the Fed's plan for even higher interest rates, the housing market is much stronger than it was in the past and we are in no way seeing a replay of 2007/2008. Wages to rise by a strong 5-6%, rents are going up, not down, there is a significant lack of supply housing market,

and demographics point to a continuing demand for housing. Further, with the high number of cash buyers and Wall Street players in the game, I think the housing market is likely to be better able to withstand higher interest rates than in the past."

He continued, saying, "That said, housing has become a much more important transmission channel for monetary policy than it's been in the past, partly because auto demand is supercharged given the lack of supply and because investment in corporate plant is, relatively speaking, very low right now. As a result, home sales are likely to decline, but probably by no more than 10-15% below where they are right now, still comfortably above 5 million at the national level. As for prices, I expect home appreciation rates to decline substantially but remain positive yearover-year through the end of 2022."

Additional central Indiana year-over year comparisons (April 2021 vs. April 2022):

- Pending sales decreased 0.5 percent to
- Current median sales
- price: $275,000 • Months supply of
- inventory: 0.7 months • Total active listings increased 4.3 percent

This information has been provided by MIB-OR REALTOR Association (formerly named the Metropolitan Indianapolis Board of REALTORS), the professional association representing central Indiana's REALTORS®. MIBOR serves the needs of over 9,000 members in Boone, Brown, Decatur, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Johnson, Madison, Marion, Montgomery, Morgan, and Shelby counties. That Summer Smile

When the world is hot and my skin is fried, scratching from the constant dry, let the clouds boil up, boil up high. And then shade the earth with the darkening sky and bring the secrets and the smell of rain. The coolness and the blessed rain, again.

Our land is brown but blessed, stressed in the heat, the shiny heat of day. The slender green of rivers slide along, striving to continue, to feed its own along the banks, the banks where the dust rises. Rises, powdery clomp by clomp as we walk, walk the shady

And though the heat, the dryness of heat, pushes down our weary feet, we plod along. Ours is the blessing of challenge, to live, to thrive in the heat. To toil and sweat, to make the cold drink at day's end that much sweeter. Sweeter as it goes down, cooler as it falls, dropping the coolness inside us and forcing us to smile. That summer smile.

When the heat falls hard, on many days, unquenched by the dark of night, we ask, in quiet times, we ask. Bring us the clouds, the black-bellied clouds, the clouds that softly hold the heads of gods in their moistening grasp. The clouds, those big-bellied busters that hold the violence, the wind, the flashes, the noise. The clouds we wait for and pray for and look for on the western ridge. Let them come, with their silver tops and their bellies black as night and cool as forgive-

The summer clouds, the clouds that define our culture, our art, our summer, our hot, heavy summer.

A rain, a storm, a suddenness of life and blast and sweet charity designed to keep us living here, here in the rain, here in the sun, and keep us praying, here in the rain, and looking toward the west for more, always to the west, always looking for more.

Memorial Day Mayhem: Indiana Travelers Can Expect A 'Flightmare' Of Airport Delays Starting On May 30th, Warns Travel Expert

With Memorial Day quickly approaching, so is the unofficial start of summer... For many Hoosiers, this upcoming summer will be the first time they're planning vacation getaways since the start of the pandemic – and consequent travel restrictions were implemented more than two years ago. Many restrictions have since been lifted. however, with Covid still very much present today, it has a continuing effect on aspects like airline, airport, and hospitality industry staffing shortages, alongside the increased demand for these kinds of travel services.

Heightened demand for travel is typically accompanied by an increase in ticket costs. In airports across The Hoosier State, the average price of a domestic flight ticket is $337.82, which is higher than the national average of $327.13. Before the pandemic, in periods of higher ticket prices, people would be less likely to splurge on traveling, however, after two years of restrictions, many have saved up for the moment they're able to resume these leisure activities - such as over summer vacation this year. However, it also means that this upcoming peak season, airports in Indiana are predicted to experience increased air traffic, as well as foot traffic from passengers passing through. A combination of these pandemic-related factors may lead to trip disruptions, delays, postponement, or even cancelations for travelers this upcoming season...

Rose Ackermann, Executive Editor at FamilyDestinationsGuide. com warns that the surge in passenger numbers following the easing of travel restrictions will have an impact on waiting times between checkpoints like check-in counters, security screening, and baggage collection. "While it is great news that travel has fully opened up and families can finally have proper vacations, the combination of increased demand and staff shortages have the potential to cause significant delays and an overall sub-par travel experience.

The TSA reports air passenger traffic is expected to be more concentrated over peak periods, with volumes anticipated to match (and occasionally exceed) those in previous years for the first time since the pandemic began and travel restrictions were implemented. With an influx of passengers returning to modes of air travel, it may mean staff (which are already short in number) are overwhelmed with duties and passengers eager to get to their summer destinations. Airports Council International (ACL) released 2021 rankings of busiest airports across the world and the top 7 were all located in the U.S., with Hartsfield-Jackson Atlanta International Airport topping the charts in #1 place (75.7 million passengers in 2021, which was a 76% increase from 2020).

- 1. Atlanta (ATL): 75.7 million passengers, a 76% increase from 2020
- 2. Dallas/Fort Worth (DFW): 62.5 million passengers, a 59% increase from 2020
- 3. Denver (DEN): 58.8 million passengers, a 74% increase from 2020
- 4. Chicago O'Hare (ORD): 54 million passengers, a 75% increase from 2020
- 5. Los Angeles (LAX): 48 million passengers, a 67% increase from 2020
- 6. Charlotte (CLT): 43.3 million passengers, a 59% increase from 2020 7. Orlando (MCO): 40.4 million passengers, 2020 FamilyDestinations-Guide.com has compiled a list of tips for summer vacationers over the upcoming to help ease travel concerns they may have when moving through

1. Aim for flights that hubs during the pandem-

depart early in the day By doing this, if there is a potential last-minute flight cancellation, it may increase your chances of being rebooked on another flight the same day. This will also help reduce the risk of larger-scale impacts on the rest of your travel plans if things do happen to go awry.

2. Anticipate delays and plan your time accordingly

Lengthier-than-usual waiting times at travel checkpoints and airline counters can emerge without warning, therefore, making sure you're even earlier than being 'on time' can help reduce the severity of these delays on the rest of your plans. Anticipating these delays means you can add an extra few minutes between stops onto your itinerary and even if this additional time isn't needed, you could always stop for a coffee or snack to make up for it.

3. Review your travel insurance policy

In a time where travel can be unpredictable due to the changing pandemic landscape, it's a good idea to look into the best possible travel insurance for you and your party. There is an abundance of different options to suit budgets and varying timelines; and taking out a travel insurance policy ahead of time can help minimize financial stress and further delays caused by potential flight, transport, or accommodation cancelations.

4. Try exercise patience when dealing with airport and airline staff!

It's easy to get caught up in the excitement of traveling, especially if it's been a while since your last trip. Remember that many industries are still attempting to recover from the economic turmoil caused by the pandemic, so processes may be a little slower as compared to traveling in previous years before the virus was a concern.

Change These Financial Behaviors To Finally Get Out Of Credit Card Debt

Most people know excessive credit card debt is bad for their financial lives. But few may be aware of how seemingly innocuous financial behaviors can lead to a life with perpetual debt.

"Much of personal finance is about behaviors and habits," said Michael Sullivan, personal financial consultant with Take Charge America, a nonprofit credit counseling and debt management agency. "Many people generally know what it takes to win with money, but unless you actually shift some key behaviors, you're more likely to find yourself in debt."

Sullivan shares four behaviors to change that will help you avoid credit card debt:

• Failing to control spending. Without a clear picture of your spending, it's easy to overspend. The solution? Track every penny you spend for a month to identify where exactly your money is going. It may be enlightening to see how much you're really spending on lattes and lunches. Once you identify habits, needs and wants, create a budget based on your income and carefully follow the max spending limit across budget categories. Learn more about developing a realistic budget.

• Only paying the minimum. If you pay only the minimum payments on your credit card, you are paying the maximum amount of interest because only a small portion applies to the principal balance. Instead, seek to pay off your account in full every month to avoid carrying a balance. If you're already deep in debt, put a halt on unnecessary spending and consider a free credit counseling session to identify the best options for climbing out of debt based on your individual circumstances.

money. Discussing finances is hard. But the discomfort of talking about money is nothing compared to the anxiety, shame and potential health issues that silence can cause. Speak openly and honestly about your finances with your partner, children and other loved ones who have ties to your financial life. It will help you get clear on your goals and avoid debt.

Not talking about

• Falling for gimmicks. Whether it's a 10% discount or travel points, we're often confronted with perks and gimmicks to open new cards and spend. Although rewards cards have advantages, they become a hindrance if you're tempted to spend when you shouldn't. Opt out of credit card mailers and say no at the regis-be 4'11" standing on a crate of frozen potatoes. I became interested in Evan on his very first day. I placed my order through the raspy micro-phone -- menu item No. 12, if you at home are keeping score -- and back through the speaker came this amazing, unclouded deep voice echoing those immortal words, "Would you like Horsey Sauce with that?"

Now, I've got nothing against horseradish, but that was the least of my worries. I was concerned why this professional voice artist was so obviously underemployed. His dulcet basso speech thundered like the poor kid had swallowed a subwoofer with his Cheerio's. It shuddered my car so vigorously that I noticed both of my shoelaces had become untied.

Imagine, if you will, part James Earl Jones, part elevator shaft . . . or, what God's little brother would sound like, if he needed a part-time job at Arby's.

"You've got to get into radio," I exclaimed, pulling to the window.

"I know," Evan said. "Everyone tells me that."

"I'm serious!" I said. I explained that I'm no casual complimenter. My family has a rather signifi-cant history using the voice professionally. "You've at least got to start a podcast."

"Maybe someday, sir," Evan said. Then, I could almost see the young man snap to attention. "I'm joining the Navy!"

My first impulse was to think what a terrible waste. A voice like that only comes along once in a generation. Although I'd pay money to hear Evan yell, "Damn the torpedoes!", I couldn't help thinking we could hire any squeak-voiced young kid to paddle boats around the ocean.

Then I noticed the pride in his staunch dispose.

John, I thought solemnly. This is his passion. He WANTS to serve.

"I'm honored to know you, young man," I said. "Sir?"

I explained to Evan that, in this day of 24/7/365 news, satellites, cell phones, and the internet -- we can no longer veil, behind the swashbuckling and the bravado, the realities of the profession he is choosing. Dangers exist. They can be catastrophic, and they are real.

Sure, the career opportunities, the camaraderie and the adventures are tantalizing. Equally enduring, however, are the risks: the fear, the confusion, even the asinine.

Yet, our young people are still willing to serve -- WANTING to serve a higher calling.

"This already makes you a hero in my book," I told Evan Whatshisname, who returned an em-barrassed smile. That's Evan.

Now that I think about it, it's not important that you know Evan's last name. Every community has one, maybe several -- if you make the effort to look for them.

Like Evan, he (or she) is a leader. He volunteers. He is on his high school's student council. He is an Honor Society member. He plays the trombone in the marching band. He is captain of his robotics team.

Evan wants to be an engineer. He has offers from prestigious universities. Nope, not for Evan.

It's ironic, really. The day after Memorial Day, Evan gives up his drive-thru window for a nuclear warship, yet never surrenders his eagerness to serve.

I will have one more Sunday to get Evan's last name right. When he tells me his name, I'll write it down. I won't bother telling you.

Instead, on this Memorial Day, walk the silent ranks of your local cemetery. Pay special atten-tion to the graves with flags on them. If you look closely, regardless of the name chiseled in stone, you will see an Evan.

Stand quietly over them and say a little prayer. Prove me right. I told Evan Whatshisname, that whatever the future holds, those who serve will never be forgotten.

Fair winds and following seas, my friend! Yes, that was a Diet Coke.

from that mistake.

One day, right after I opened, an older man walked in and wanted to know where the Lye Creek bridge was located. He sported a scraggly-looking beard and was wearing shorts with large pockets, hiking boots, and a safari-style hat, and he claimed to be a retired professor from Purdue. He told me that he had been studying the geology of this area, and believed there was gold to be found at that general location...I gave directions, and off he went. The idea that someone could actually pan for gold around here and be successful was somewhat amusing...until he returned four hours later...and showed me approximately a thimble size amount of gold man came in and asked me if we had a map that showed where the old one-room school houses had been located in our township, as he wanted to use a metal detector to search for artifacts. As I was extremely busy helping other patrons, I told him to write down his name and phone number and I would find the map and call him shortly. His name sounded familiar, but I just couldn't remember where I had heard it. After a few minutes, it dawned on me. The man had been arrested for murder when I was a deputy sheriff here in Montgomery County. I had transported him to Wabash Valley Mental Hospital in West Lafayette for a pychiatric examination prior to his jury trial. He subsequently was found guilty and sentenced to 50 years in prison. He had evidently served his time and been released (serving fewer years with time off for good behavior). It had him...so strange! About five years ago, a fellow who lived across the street came in to sign up for a library card. As he stood at the circulation desk, I could not help but notice his very strong body odor. I had never smelled anything quite like that before...I almost gagged! After he left, I sprayed about a half of a can of air freshener, but the smell lingered on all day, and I had to explain this to patrons as they came in to get books. Then the very next day, Mr. Stinky came in again to get a movie...same horrible smell...so I politely asked him if he was aware of the fact that he did not exactly smell like a bouquet of roses. He replied that, yes, he knew about it, and stated that he had no money to buy soap. Highly unlikely, as he had money for cigarettes. I gladly donated some of the library's soap...It was for a good he moved out of town... not sure why...either he didn't pay his rent, or the more likely scenario...his body fumes caused other tenants to become ill.

On my 60th birthday, a lady brought her two boys in to get some books. She told her boys to wish me a happy birthday, which they did....so I decided to have them guess my age. The 7-year old looked at me for a few seconds...."Uh...75?" Ooh, that hurt. Immediately his 11-year old brother stated, "Now Mr. Dale is not 75 years old." I sighed a bit of relief, and asked the older boy how old he thought I was. He hesitated for a few seconds..."I would say... ummm....93?" Ouch!
