2 U.S. Coast Guard helicopter pilots stationed in Mobile, AL, Blake Morris and Maggie Morton, were browsing the Facebook Marketplace website when they came across a helicopter body for sale. They wasted no time in acquiring the hulk and quickly got into the task of repurposing it into a very unique camper. Their "helicamper" conversion is well on its way to completion. Meanwhile, Blake and Maggie have been busy gathering the chopper's history. According to Blake, it belonged to "the German military police first, then it got bought from there and used in Afghanistan with U.S. troops for a few years then it came here in about 2011 back in the states."

My four brothers and sisters and I were very lucky. We had one of the best fathers any child could ask for. Of course, we were like a lot of other kids who have great dads, we appreciated everything he did for us, but we just didn't thank him enough when he was still with us. Dad died of a heart attack at the age of 66. My sister, Sarah, and I were with him when he passed away, and she and I hugged each other...knowing that we had lost a great father

Amid Record Inflation, Young Joins Colleagues To Propose Middle Class Savings Protections

U.S. Senator Todd Young (R-Ind.) joined Senators Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa), John Barrasso (R-Wyo.), Steve Daines (R-Mont.), Bill Cassidy, M.D. (R-La.), and James Lankford (R-Okla.) to introduce legislation that would provide relief and protections for middle class savings that still face federal taxes despite significantly diminished value imposed by historic rates of inflation. The Middle-Class Savings and Investment Act would help lower- and middle-income Americans, their families, and retirees as inflation outpaces any interest earned or gains accrued by their savings through targeted tax relief.

"The policies of Washington Democrats have led to the highest price hikes in 40 years. This record-high inflation is hitting working families and those living on a fixed income the hardest. Our Middle-Class Savings and Investment Act offers targeted relief to Hoosiers who are struggling with the impact of inflation," said Senator Young.

"The reckless spending, backwards energy policy and overall economic mismanagement of this administration has led to 40-year high inflation. Unlike other plans, like gas tax rebates or increased taxes on businesses, our legislation will not further fan the fires of inflation," said Senator

Grassley. "Middle class families, retirees, small businesses and farmers have watched as their savings erode in value while still facing taxes on gains that may not even keep pace with inflation. This creates a perverse incentive to spend now rather than save, further fueling inflation. Our bill will ensure that those hurting most from inflation aren't further burdened by those taxes."

The Middle-Class Savings and Investment Act would target relief for Americans by:

- Excluding a reasonable amount of interest income from being subject to tax ($600 for married couples, $300 for individuals);
- More than doubling the size of the zero percent (lowest) tax bracket for long-term capital gains and qualified dividends, and indexing the income thresholds to inflation;
- Eliminating the marriage penalty that exists in the current Net Investment Tax—which subjects some income to an additional 3.8 percent tax—and indexing its income threshold to inflation;
- Increasing the maximum 'savers credit' an individual may receive for contributing to qualified retirement accounts and expanding the availability of this credit to more taxpayers.

According to data released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the consumer price index (CPI) accelerated last month at the fastest rate in 40 years. The annualized CPI—a critical gauge of inflation—rose 8.6 percent for the twelve months ending in May. This massive increase in inflation amounts to a reduction in consumer purchasing power, squeezing budgets for individuals and families across the country.

Americans who want to save their hard-earned money for the long term have few options to preserve its value in such an environment. Where they can accrue interest or may incur some modest return, they still face federal taxes on those gains under current law. The Middle-Class Savings and Investment Act provides protections and targeted relief for these Americans.

"The Middle-class Savings and Investment Act provides important tax relief to American families to help them to save and invest in the economy. The bill expands the zero percent capital gains bracket, expands and indexes the threshold for the Obamacare 3.8 percent net investment income tax, and expands the Savers credit. Senator Grassley should be applauded for introducing this important, pro-taxpayer legislation," said Grover Norquist, President of Americans for Tax Reform.

"Senator Grassley's

Middle-Class Savings and Investment Act would allow millions of American workers and families to invest more confidently for any number of major and long-term life expenses, and would reduce the taxes Americans owe on the earnings from those investments. The legislation is also fiscally responsible, paying for pro-growth tax cuts by extending the prudent $10,000 cap on the state and local tax (SALT) deduction for three years. NTU applauds Senator Grassley for his leadership, and we encourage Senators to support the Middle-Class Savings and Investment Act," said Andrew Lautz, Director of Federal Policy, National Taxpayers Union.

"At a time when President Biden is calling for higher taxes and fueling inflation through misguided policies and out-of-control spending, the Middle-Class Savings and Investment Act would provide much needed tax relief to the middle-class. By reducing taxes on savings and investment, the bill would allow Americans to keep more of their hard-earned money and incentivize business investment. Americans for Prosperity applauds these changes, and would like to thank Senator Grassley for introducing this common-sense legislation," said Gary Haglund, Senior Economic Policy Analyst, Americans for Prosperity.

Meditation Repudiation

Mary Ellen and I just got back from a trip to visit my sister and brother. In my sister's lovely condominium in Great Neck, New York, she has a little windowed room off her kitchen that's no more than 6 by 8 feet. In that room she meditates every day, and she claims she has achieved some degree of calmness and peace in her life. I am jealous of Linda—I want what she has. No, not serenity and peace, but a little room like hers where I can go every day, down a few beers, vent my anger and frustration with the world and kick over a bookcase. Very relaxing!

My sister thinks I should meditate like she does. This point of view has been echoed by one of my physicians, my wife and several people at our Unitarian church. They all tell me it would help. Help me with what, I wonder? What's wrong with me? When I ask this question, my doctor says it will help address my insomnia. When I ask my sister, she always says, "Sorry, I have another call coming in." It's odd: whenever I ask her why I need help, that same person keeps calling her.

All the folks advocating this approach have sent me to a website with detailed instructions for achieving "one with everything," which, by the way, is exactly how I order a hot dog at a nearby deli. I'm going to try some of these methods, but as you will see, I'm a skeptic.

They begin the lesson by asking the reader to assume a comfortable position. (I decided I wanted to be a restaurant critic for the New York Times.) We are also told to "learn" these exercises. Why is that word in quotes? I won't eat "crab" salad or chopped "meat," so I'm a little wary of digesting what this program is feeding me.

One section of the directions is labeled "Thinking About Body Parts." When I hit 75, I tried to stop obsessing about my aging back, limbs and butt. Several of my parts are just not working the way they used to and the last thing I want to do is think about that. The list includes: "Think About Your Throat." Really, my throat? I've never thought much about my throat, but thanks for giving me something else to worry about.

DICK WOLFSIE

Later in the guidelines, they assign the number 3, which is to be the personal symbol for complete body relaxation, a mantra I will need to repeat continually until I achieve serenity. I think I should be able to pick my own number. First of all, 3 is way too easy to guess. I don't want strangers hacking into my meditation session. My mantra should have capital and lowercase letters and at least one symbol. I want my relaxation code to be F3&b@. Yeah, try to guess that! Of course, I'll never remember it, which will also stress me out.

Finally, there is a section titled "Scheduled Worry." Here the authors advise you to think about a problem at bedtime that needs to be resolved and then ponder possible solutions. If you can't come up with an answer, they direct you to not think about it until tomorrow. Well, that worked for Scarlett O'Hara.

Mary Ellen asked me to assure her I would give meditation a try. I told her I would, and to consider that a "promise."

Baird Introduces Legislation To Restart Border Wall Construction And Prevent Waste Of Tax Dollars

Thursday, Congressman Jim Baird (IN-04) introduced the Border Construction Materials Transfer Act, legislation which would require the federal government, through the Department of Homeland Security, to immediately transfer ownership of all construction materials already purchased for improving border security and staged along our Southern border to the state governments located on the border.

"For nearly a year and a half, we have watched the Biden administration not only fail to establish any plan to address the raging crisis at our Southern border but make absolutely no constructive use of the materials already purchased by the Trump administration to construct a barrier along the border," said Congressman Baird. "As we continue to experience record numbers of border crossings each month and lethal drugs continue to flood our communities at alarming rates, the need for a barrier along our Southern border couldn't be more dire. The American taxpayers cannot afford to continue footing the multi-billion-dollar bill for unused barrier materials while our Southern border remains more vulnerable than ever before. My bill immediately transfers ownership of these materials from the woefully inept Biden administration to the border state governments, thereby empowering them to do what has otherwise failed to be done: secure our Southern border."

Background:

Since President Biden issued an order to stop construction of the Southern border barrier, the federal government has paid contractors over $3 million a day to monitor unused border materials. In Texas alone, there is over $100 million worth of border wall materials that has already been purchased with taxpayer dollars going to waste.

Over 2.6 million illegal immigrants have been apprehended at our Southern border since President Biden took office, and U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and Secretary Mayorkas have confirmed that over 700,000 known "got-aways" have evaded apprehension by CBP at the Southern border during the same timeframe. To date, CBP has seized 340,000 pounds of drugs in Fiscal Year 2022, including 5,300 pounds of fentanyl which is enough to kill 2.4 billion people.

The Border Construction Materials Transfer Act (H.R. 8028) does the following:

- Directs the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to transfer materials to construct roadways and physical barriers along the Southern border of the United States to the governments of the states in which such materials are located
- Ownership of these covered materials located in the states of Arizona, California, New Mexico, and Texas is transferred to the governments of these states respectively
- DHS is responsible for the physical relocation of all covered materials transferred to state-operated facilities

Profiling Purdue's Indiana Football Hall Of Fame Inductees, From M - Z

While researching part 2 of my series on Purdue football's membership in the Indiana Football Hall of Fame, one trend stood out.

Some of the state's finest high school, college and professional football coaches had Boilermaker ties. A few, like Gordon Straley of West Lafayette, Pat McCaffrey of Lafayette Jeff and Bob Springer of Indianapolis Washington owe their Hall of Fame election to success on Friday nights.

One former Boilermaker football player won a national championship coaching men's golf!

Let's pick up the countdown with a man who most fans connect with Purdue basketball.

Guy "Red" Mackey - Purdue's basketball arena was renamed in Mackey's memory following his death in 1971. But his background was in football, and his 29 years in the athletic director's chair came after earning three letters as a Boilermaker end from 1926-28 and then serving as an assistant coach from 1931 to 1942.

Kenneth "Pat" McCaffrey - A two-year letterwinner for Purdue football, McCaffrey was best known for his 15 seasons at Lafayette Jeff. He led the Bronchos to a 10-0 season in 1966 and was 131-76-2 for his career.

Jack Mollenkopf - There's a reason why this intense, sometimes profane old line coach is in numerous Halls of Fame, including College Football (1988) and the first class of the Purdue Intercollegiate Athletics Hall (1994). Lured from coaching high school football in Ohio to Purdue by Stu Holcomb in 1947, Mollenkopf was chosen over another coaching legend, Hank Stram, to take over the Purdue program in 1956. What followed was the longest sustained success Boilermaker football has ever had. An 84-39-9 record that included a 10-4 mark against Notre Dame, 11-2-1 against Indiana and a Rose Bowl victory in 1967 against USC.

Doxie Moore - The Delphi native played on

KENNY THOMPSON
Columnist

two Big Ten championship teams in football and two in basketball. Purdue's backfield of Moore, Duane Purvis and Jim Carter was called by at least one sports writer in the 1930s as the best in the USA. Also a member of the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame.

Kevin Motts - After helping Mishawaka Marian win state championships in 1973 and 1975, Motts became a four-year starting linebacker at Purdue and still holds the career tackles record with 520.

Paul Moss - An all-state end at Terre Haute Gerstmeyer, Moss' pass-catching skills earned him a pair of All-American and first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1931 and 1932. As a member of the football Pittsburgh Pirates, Moss led the NFL in receiving as a rookie in 1933.

William "Pinky" Newell - Newell was a member of the undefeated 1943 Boilermaker squad but his greatest service to Purdue came as a distinguished athletic trainer for 28 years.

Elmer Oliphant - His unusual football career began as an all-state end at Linton-Stockton High School. Oliphant won seven letters in football, basketball, baseball and track at Purdue. He earned first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1912-13. His single-game scoring record of 43 points (5 TDs, 13 of 13 extra points against Rose-Poly in 1912) is likely to stand for another century. Earning an appointment to West Point, Oliphant was allowed to play football for three seasons at Army as well. He is credited with 435 points in his six varsity seasons. The Indiana Football honor is one of eight Halls of Fame to have enshrined Oliphant.

Kyle Orton - The only Purdue quarterback to start four consecutive bowl games, Orton threw for 8,918 yards and 61 touchdowns. During his senior season in 2004, Orton passed for 3,090 yards and 31 touchdowns. He was a fourth round draft pick by the Chicago Bears in 2005 and played 10 seasons in the NFL.

Curtis Painter - The Vincennes native succeeded Orton as Purdue's starting quarterback in 2005. Painter broke Drew Brees' single-season passing yards record with 3,985 in 2006. Painter threw for 11,163 yards and 67 touchdowns as a Boilermaker. Selected in the sixth round of the 2009 NFL Draft by the Colts, Painter spent four seasons in the NFL.

Robert "Stormy" Pfohl - The Goshen native was a starting running back as a freshman and sophomore before World War II interrupted his college career. Pfohl went on to play two seasons with the Baltimore Colts.

Mike Phipps - A high school All-American quarterback at Columbus High School, Phipps was more than up to the task of following in Bob Griese's footsteps at Purdue. Heisman Trophy runner-up in 1969 and first quarterback to lead his team past Notre Dame three consecutive seasons. He set 24 records at Purdue and turned down a Rhodes Scholarship to play in the NFL for the Cleveland Browns.

Duane Purvis - The multi-talented running back was an All-American in 1933 and 1934. Voted the Big Ten's Most Outstanding Athlete in 1933.

Pete Quinn - When he wasn't getting his exercise or impersonating Elvis Presley, the Secцина graduate was key member of three bowl championship teams during the Jim Young era and was a two-time second-team All-Big Ten selection. His popularity was rewarded with a selection as the center on Purdue's All-Time Football Team in 1987.

Dave Rankin - An

All-American end in 1939 and 1940, the Warsaw native also starred in track and field, setting the U.S. indoor record in the 60-yard low hurdles at the 1940 Butler Relays.

Dale Rems - A two-year starter under Jack Mollenkopf before graduating in 1961, Rems was another successful high school coach. At Elkhart Central, Rems was head coach for 11 seasons and earned Region 2 Class 5A Coach of the Year honors in 1985.

Dale Samuels - First Purdue quarterback to surpass 1,000 passing yards in a season. Samuels helped end Notre Dame's 39-game unbeaten streak in 1950. He was a co-captain of the 1952 Big Ten co-championship team.

Rick Sayers - An All-State quarterback at South Bend Adams, Sayers thrived as a wide receiver under head coach Bob DeMoss. Sayers was a second-team All-Big Ten selection in 1971 and led the Boilermakers in receiving in 1971 and 1972.

Chris Schenkel - A merit contributor, the Bippus, Ind., native was a sports television pioneer in the 1950s. Among his accomplishments were the first to cover the Masters golf tournament on TV in 1956, the first to do play by play on a college football game coast to coast on ABC and the first to serve as a live sports anchor from the Mexico City Games in 1968. Schenkel was the TV voice of the NFL's New York Giants from 1965-73, ABC's NCAA College Football Game of the Week and the Pro Bowlers Association Tour.

Tim Seneff - After helping Merrillville win a Class 3A state championship, Seneff became a three-year starting safety under Jim Young at Purdue (1979-81).

Jerry Shay - An All-American lineman for Gary Wallace High School, Shay earned All-Big Ten honors in 1964 and 1965. He was a first-round draft choice by the Minnesota Vikings in 1966 and spent seven seasons in the NFL.

Bob Springer - The first active high school coach inducted into the Indiana Football Hall of Fame, Springer played three varsity seasons at Purdue. Springer helped create the original state tournament in 1973. In 36 seasons, most of which were at Indianapolis Washington, Springer went 227-98-8 with a Class 3A state championship in 1974.

Gordon Straley - Another Indiana high school coaching legend, Straley graduated in 1939 after playing two seasons at Purdue. After serving in World War II, he spent 32 years at West Lafayette High School. Straley went 187-91-15 and helped expand the school's athletic program from four sports for boys to 16 co-ed sports by the time of his retirement as athletic director in 1980.

Hank Stram - Earned three letters in football and baseball at Purdue in a career interrupted by World War II service. As an assistant under Stu Holcomb, Stram helped mold Len Dawson into a star quarterback. The duo would later team up to win three AFL titles with the Dallas Texans and Kansas City Chiefs. Stram retired with a record of 131-97-10 and is also a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Harry Szulborski - The Detroit native held the Purdue career rushing record of 2,478 yards for 23 years. He led the nation in rushing in 1947 (851) and 1948 (989) while earning first-team All-Big Ten honors.

Joe Tiller - His "basketball on grass" offense revived a dormant Purdue program in 1997 and helped the Boilermakers reach 10 bowl games from 1997 to 2008. Tiller led Purdue to its second Rose Bowl appearance after sharing the Big Ten championship in 2000. He coached 53 players who went on to the NFL, including future Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Drew Brees.

Sam Voinoff - A starting guard during one of the greatest eras of Purdue football (1929-31), when the Boilermakers won two Big Ten titles. But golf is his legacy in West Lafayette, coaching four NCAA individual champions and the 1961 team champs. Voinoff's teams also captured 10 Big Ten championships and three NCAA runner-up finishes during the 1950s.

Ray Wallace - A consensus high school All-American running back at Indianapolis North Central in 1981, Wallace became the first player in NCAA history to start at four different positions (safety, cornerback, running back and fullback) while at Purdue. Played with the Houston Oilers and Pittsburgh Steelers in the NFL.

Ralph "Pest" Welch - The consensus All-American halfback starred on one of the best Purdue teams in history, the 1929 undefeated Big Ten champions. Welch earned his nickname in high school for his persistent efforts to join the wrestling team.

Rod Woodson - The Fort Wayne Snider graduate was Indiana's 1982 Mr. Football and a USA Today/Parade All-American in 1981-82. Woodson is one of just a handful of Purdue greats to earn three first-team All-Big Ten honors. A consensus All-American in 1986, Woodson is also a member of the Purdue, College and Pro Halls of Fame.

Jim Young - Coached Purdue to consecutive victories in Peach, Bluebonnet and Liberty bowls (1978-80). His 1979 team remains the only 10-win squad in Boilermaker history. Big Ten Coach of the Year in 1978 and his 120-71-2 career record includes a 38-19-1 mark at Purdue.

Alex Yunevich - The Bicknell, Ind., native was a star fullback for the Boilermakers during three of Purdue's best seasons from 1929-31. He went on to become the winningest football coach in Alfred University history with a 177-85-12 record.

- Kenny Thompson is the former sports editor for the Lafayette Journal & Courier and an award-winning journalist. He has covered Purdue athletics for many years.

Reader Interested In DeSantis

Dear Editor,
As one of those "eight or nine" of your readers as well as being a Purdue grad, I also like Mitch Daniels. However, I think Ron DeSantis would be a better choice in 2024, for a plethora of reasons, not the least of which would be the age differential and name recognition on the national stage.

The "Isaiah 117 House" Makes Lemonade From The Most Difficult Days

Dear Editor,
Can you imagine being removed from the only home you know?
Isaiah 117 House is a beautiful home, ALWAYS ready at a moment's notice to accept children removed from their home by the Department of Children's Services. This allows the child (instead of being taken to an office cubicle to wait for foster placement) to go to a beautiful house full of everything they could dream of -- loving and compassionate caregivers, bubble baths, customized food, new clothes, new bedding, new toiletries, toys -- just about anything they need to help with a very traumatic day. Their stays usually last from a few hours to overnight before their foster family is confirmed.

We are currently building this amazing home and it will be serving Boone, Hendricks, and Montgomery Counties. There are 7 existing homes and 28 in planning stages across America.
Why we make lemonade:
In July, especially July 15th-17th, you may see lemonade stands popping up all around! Kids will be selling lemonade and collecting money that will be donated to the Isaiah 117 House to help other kids on a very traumatic day.

ANYONE can have a fund-raising stand, at any time. We love to see kids helping kids!

Explore Your Creative Side With The New Indiana Arts & Culture Passport

Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch, Indiana Destination Development Corporation (IDDC) and Indiana Arts Commission (IAC), with support from the National Endowment for the Arts, are teaming up to launch the Indiana Arts and Culture Passport.

"From music venues and theaters, to museums and more, communities across Indiana are using art as a way to come together and build a sense of place," Crouch said. "All of these attractions reflect the values of residents and help build a sense of identity for both residents and visitors alike."

The Indiana Arts & Culture "digital passport" encourages visitors to discover new places and enjoy some of Indiana's creative spaces. Sign up online for the passport and receive custom prizes for visiting multiple destinations across the state. Visitors need to check-in from a smartphone at one of the designated passport locations. Participants earn more by visiting more locations.

Visitors who check in to 5 places will receive an exclusive Indiana Arts & Culture Passport sticker. People who make 15 visits to any of the passport locations will earn a sketchbook, and after 30 visits, participants will receive a tote bag. Check-in to 100 places on the passport to earn a custom piece by an Indiana artist.*

"The passport includes over 200 locations across all of Indiana's 92 counties, so there is something for everyone to discover no matter what corner of the state they are in," IDDC Secretary and CEO Elaine Bedel said. "Many of these venues and displays are also public gathering spots, which encourages people to connect with each other and can even boost economic growth."

"Across the state, communities are utilizing art as a powerful tool for community and economic development," IAC Executive Director Miah Michaelsen said. "We are grateful for the opportunity to help spotlight public art, organizations, and venues that are strengthening the fabric of Indiana communities."

*All prizes are available while supplies last.

I-65 Bridge Over The Wabash River Renamed For Purple Heart Recipient

The Indiana Department of Transportation announces the I-65 bridge over the Wabash River will be renamed for a Purple Heart recipient.

Indiana House Concurrent Resolution 6, which passed during the legislative session earlier this year urges INDOT to rename the bridge on I-65 over the Wabash River in honor of Captain Ronald D. Gutwein.

INDOT, along with Captain Ronald D. Gutwein's family and HCR 6 authors Rep. Edmond Soliday, Rep. Doug Gutwein, Rep. Jim Pressel, and Rep. Don Lehe held a renaming ceremony on June 15th at the Indiana Veterans' Home in West Lafayette. The bridge will be renamed the "Captain Ronald D. Gutwein Memorial Bridge."

Captain Ronald D. Gutwein was born and raised in Francesville, Indiana. The Vietnam War veteran served two tours in Vietnam. He risked his life to deliver essential troops and items for the successful completion of his unit's missions throughout the war and to evacuate soldiers from danger. He was awarded two Silver Stars, four Bronze Stars, two Army Commendation Medals, numerous air medals and was nominated for the Distinguished Service Medal, the second-highest decoration for the United States of America awards for heroism.

Captain Ronald D. Gutwein left the army but continued to serve in the Middle East as an aviation safety consultant to U.S. allies and also conducted flying medivac missions for the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota until his untimely death.

America we know today. With six district offices and 3,500 employees, the agency is responsible for constructing and maintaining more than 29,000 lane miles of highways, more than 5,700 bridges, and supporting 4,500 rail miles and 117 airports across the state. Indiana once again ranked #1 in the U.S. for infrastructure in CNBC's 2019 "America's Top States for Business" ranking. Learn more about INDOT at in.gov/indot.

About the Indiana Hands-Free Law

Indiana FFA Members And Co-Alliance Join Together To Launch The FFA Proud! Partnership

Co-Alliance Cooperative has amplified its commitment to the Indiana

FFA Foundation by donating $25,000 to the organization in 2022. A large component of that partnership was unveiled on Tuesday, June 14, 2022, at the Indiana State FFA Convention held at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

Just minutes before the 93rd annual Indiana State FFA Convention kicked off it's Opening General Session, Co-Alliance unveiled the FFA Proud! fuel truck, which will deliver CountryMark branded fuel across the state of Indiana. Two trucks in the Co-Alliance fleet will be branded FFA Proud!

"The branding of the FFA Proud! Fuel trucks is a perfect way for us to display our commitment to agriculture education and leadership across Indiana. We have a tremendous number of employees who are former FFA members, and we understand the power of such an organization," says Co-Alliance CEO, Kevin Still. "Co-Alliance is proud to partner with Indiana FFA to provide leadership opportunities to those who will excel in the work force and more importantly, in life."

Amy Kinsler, Vice President of Sales & Marketing for Co-Alliance, Bruce Kettler, Director of the Indiana State Department of Agriculture, Belinda Puetz, CountryMark's Director of Marketing, Bill Peters, Co-Alliance Board Member, and Tim Hoberty, FFA Foundation Board Member, all spoke at the press conference where the truck was unveiled in front of an audience comprised of State FFA Officers, FFA members and advisors, Co-Alliance Board Members, FFA Foundation Board members, and friends of the FFA.

"CountryMark is proud to partner with Co-Alliance in a way that will demonstrate support for Indiana FFA members and raise much needed scholarship funds for the next generation of Indiana agricultural leaders," said CountryMark Director of Marketing Belinda Puetz. "It is exciting to imagine what today's FFA members will someday accomplish with thoughtful mentoring, STEM training, and time to think through the best ways to feed and power a growing planet."

Be on the lookout for these FFA Proud! fuel trucks in your area as they will be attending many rural community events throughout Indiana.

Co-Alliance also facilitated a workshop on Wednesday of the convention, which spotlighted Opportunities in Agriculture and how FFA members can create opportunities for themselves. Part of the workshop was a 4-person panel comprised of Co-Alliance employees who have capitalized on career opportunities in agriculture once they hung up their FFA jackets. The employees emphasized that a 4-year college education is not always the perfect fit for every individual. There are many opportunities for growth, leadership and education in the agriculture industry.

Finally, Co-Alliance joined distinct chapters on stage at the 5th General Session to present the Living to Serve Chapter awards, which they also sponsored. The cooperative strives to instill the values of community service into its culture and is proud to sponsor such an award. This award recognizes those chapters who have made serving their community an important part of their FFA Chapter's mission. There may be no greater moments of personal growth than when advisors and members freely give of themselves to make a difference in their communities and Co-Alliance is proud to promote and support this value.

Co-Alliance is a member-owned supply and marketing operation delivering innovative solutions for farmer-members and customers across Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan Illinois specializing in agronomy, propane, fuels, grain, seed, hog production and feed. The customer-focused company strives to fulfill its collective mission to lead with people and technology, grow profitably, give back locally, and remember it is a cooperative.

things they don't teach you in school!

....Thanks for making me do my chores on our farm...feeding the animals, cleaning out the barns, and helping you in many other ways... because you instilled in me a strong work ethic and taught me the value of a dollar...and I also learned many skills!

....Thanks for "shaping me up" when I did something bad. I am glad you disciplined me and taught me right from wrong...yes, sometimes with a paddle, but you did it out of love. But you also let me be a "free spirit" and learn from my own mistakes.

....Thanks for letting me participate in all of the sports at school. You never "pushed" me, and you never criticized me if I performed poorly in an event or game. You told me to just always do my best...win or lose...and be a good sport.

....Thanks for teaching me math and encouraging me to read great books by great authors. You helped me to become a good student in school and at college...and guess what, Dad? My math skills are still top notch, and my love of reading became a lifelong passion.

....Thanks for the advice you gave me when I graduated from high school...to decide where I want to live first, and to choose an occupation that I would enjoy...not select a job just for the money and prestige.

....Thanks for making me laugh...Dad, you told the best jokes and pulled lots of funny pranks on all of us. You always kept us in a good mood! And when you were the announcer during all of those years at the American Legion summer festivals on Main Street, you always kept the crowds entertained!

....Thanks for serving our country as a soldier. I used to play Army with your old uniforms and helmet when I was little. I didn't really know about all of the horrors of war that you went through until I was older. I was always proud to be the son of a World War II veteran.

....Thanks for telling me to enjoy the little things in life and not to take life too seriously...and to enjoy my kids...and be sure to spoil my grandkids! Also, you encouraged me to do something nice for others each and every day.

Thanks again, Dad, you were the greatest...I love you, and my brothers and sisters love you...and we will all see you again someday. Happy Father's Day!

I CAN HEAR, BUT I CAN'T UNDERSTAND

Did you know that the earliest sign of hearing difficulty is often the complaint that "I can hear, but I can't understand." While this type of comment may seem contradictory, it makes a lot of sense to the hearing care professionals at Beltone. In an industry that is often confusing to consumers – our goal is to make patients comfortable in a no pressure environment. At Beltone, our hearing screenings and evaluations are always complimentary. We take the time to get to know you and your medical history and explain the results of your evaluation in an easy-to-understand way.

What you can expect at Beltone:

Great hearing devices: Our advanced digital technology gives you speech clarity with minimal background noise.

Customer service: From day one, we established a set of values unlike anything else in the industry – making your health our number one priority.

Exclusive BelCare: Receive a lifetime of care and service for both you and your device.

Hearing aids are not just to help you hear but are critical to improving your brain's ability to decode speech. If hearing loss is left untreated, speech discrimination drops over time. This is because the part of the brain that decodes speech is not getting any exercise. Like a muscle without exercise, the ability to decode speech will deteriorate, but unlike a muscle, in most cases you can't get it back. This is why it's very important to get a hearing aid when you need one, rather than waiting until you can't hear at all.

P.S. We know there are hundreds of hearing aid advertisements out there promising different things. We see the news stories that talk about over-the-counter hearing aids. We can tell you the truth about "cheap" hearing aids—they don't work very well. At Beltone we are dedicated to finding a hearing solution that is right for both you and your budget!
