THREE THINGS You Should Know:

Your average five-year-old may be content to have mom or dad read him or her a story once in a while. But Bella-Jay Dark, who lives in the town of Weymouth, UK, not only reads her books, she writes them, as well, according to the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. Bella-Jay had her storybook, The Lost Cat. published by Ginger Fyre Press and it is available for purchase on Amazon. In addition to making her parents proud, Bella-Jay earned the Guinness Record title of youngest person to write and publish a book.

TAF is excited to announce the return of the August Art Fair, an outdoor art sale held the front lawn of the Wells Community Cultural Center. This year's fair will be held on Friday, Aug. 5, from 5 - 8 p.m. Interested artists will need to submit an online application by 5 p.m. on July 15. Spots will be filled in the order applications are received. Accepted vendors will be able to reserve a 10' x 10' booth space at TAF on the evening of August 5 from 5 - 8 p.m. Artists will be responsible for running their own booth and processing their own sales. Artists will keep 100% of their sales. This opportunity is open only to TAF Individual Artist Members.

The Linden Depot Museum staff is busy preparing for the second annual Midwest Railroad Fair to be held Saturday, Aug. 13 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. We are striving to make this event an outstanding success with lots of activities for adults and children of all ages. There will be a number of railroad and historical exhibits showcasing all aspects of the railroad industry. We will have food and entertainment and an opportunity for all to see our 1837 steam engine replica make its inaugural trip as it did in April 1837 from Baltimore City to Washington Town. The admission price of $6 for adults and $1 each for children includes the fair and all museum attractions. We have a fabulous model railroad exhibit inside the museum. We are looking forward to a large turn out and hope you are able to be a part of it. The museum is located at 520 N. Main Street, Linden, IN 47955.

Ask Rusty - I'm 78 And Still Working; Should I Apply For Social Security?

Dear Rusty: I am 78, still working, have a good healthcare plan and I make a nice salary. Can I still get my Social Security check since I paid into it all these years? Signed: Still Working in My 70s

Dear Still Working: You not only can get your Social Security check now, I recommend you apply for it as soon as possible. Regardless of your current earnings, you'll not suffer any penalty because you are still working. That's because you stopped being subject to Social Security's "earnings test"

now, you're not alone. Recent research suggests that many aging Americans aren't aware of the full range of options available to them. As we age, our healthcare needs intensify, and experts say that the U.S. healthcare system will need to embrace home healthcare options to meet the demand of an aging population.

The new national survey, titled "Aging in Place: Assessing Senior's Understanding of Home Healthcare Options," conducted by Bredin on behalf of Cross Country Workforce Solutions Group, shows that while most people aged 50-79 years old would prefer athome care as they age, 91% of respondents have not proactively researched the care they may need as they grow older. Further, 34% have not thought about their care needs, and awareness of existing managedat-home care programs was low among the survey respondents.

'By living at home, seniors can maintain their independence and be close to their loved ones and community, and by and large, that is what they want to do. At-home care can both meet the needs of those requiring long-term care, while alleviating some of the mounting challenges faced by hospitals and healthcare systems," says Pamela Jung, president of Cross Country Workforce Solutions Group, a division of Cross Country Healthcare, the nation's leading provider of inhome clinical and non-clinical care for aging seniors.

OBITUARIES

David Alan Wilson

April 3, 1956 - July 19, 2022

David Alan Wilson, 66, of Crawfordsville fell asleep in the Lord July 19, 2022 at Bickford Memory Care. He courageously battled early-onset Alzheimer's dementia for many years, finally giving way to the illness peacefully Tuesday while surrounded by family.

He was born April 3, 1956 at Culver Hospital in Crawfordsville to the late Thomas and Doris (Barclay) Wilson.

He married his sweetheart, Linda (Haines) Wilson, of Darlington June 28, 1975 at Garfield Christian Church. They met at the tender age of 17 through their mutual love of music, going on to create beautiful music together for 47 years.

A 1974 graduate of Crawfordsville High School, he subsequently embarked on a 36-year career with the Indiana Department of Transportation. Humble beginnings as a worker on survey and bridge crews led to a startling climb in his field. He spent many years serving Indiana's residents as a draftsman at what he and his coworkers referred to as INDOT's "crystal palace." He retired as an engineer assistant in 2011 at the age of 55.

A son, brother, husband, father and grandfather, he was a pillar in what became known locally as the Wilson Clan, or simply "The Wilsons." Together with his parents, siblings and wife, the family became responsible for and partook in several of Crawfordsville's most celebrated institutions, including the local music and athletic scenes. An avid bass player, he was a founding member of the bands Blue Shadow and Aissa, gaining much acclaim in the region throughout the 1970s. He was also a co-founder of Aire Born Studios, which hosts globally-renowned musicians to this day.

Though he had many interests, such as music ministry at First Baptist Church, trap shooting, biking and anything Western — spending his elementary years in Chandler, Prescott and Casa Grande, Arizona — none were more important to him than family. The elder child, he was quickly surrounded by four siblings and gained sight of the Lord through his devoutly Christian parents. A near-lifelong member of FBC, he taught junior high Sunday School classes for 13 years and continued leading the congregation in worship until his physical abilities were compromised.

He also enjoyed walking, always giving a friendly wave or kind words to his neighbors near his home on Country Club Road, and through the woods at the Family Farm. He loved walking sticks, woodworking, home improvement projects, bluegrass, softball and, most of all, spending time with his loved ones.

Survivors include his wife; siblings, Mike (Tina) Wilson, Sandy (David) Booker, Susi (Jim) Williams and Dan (Dora) Wilson; children, Leah (Pete) Kopetski and Nick Wilson; seven grandchildren, Evie, Elly, Will, Whitley, Drew, Hannah and Ada; and several nieces and

A viewing for all those who would like to attend may ioin the family in a Celebration of Life from 4-8 p.m. on Sunday, July 24 at First Baptist Church, 1905 Lebanon Rd. A service is planned for 10:30 a.m. Monday, July 25 at the church with burial to follow at Oak Hill Cem-

Memorial donations to Alzheimer's research efforts may be made in David's name through the Alzheimer's Association at www.alz.org or the Alzheimer's Foundation at www.alzfdn.org.

Monroe Lake Lights Up For The Moths

Do you hang out on the porch a lot? Do you notice all the moths flying towards the light? Well, instead of swatting at them and muttering about how much you need to get a screen for your porch, now you can learn about them! Monroe Lake will host a series of programs from July 23-31 to celebrate National Moth Week.

The highlight is Saturday, July 23, when Sawyer Scheid, an amateur entomologist, invites you to drop by to observe his ongoing insect survey work at the lake's Fairfax State Recreation Area (SRA). He will be at the Big Oak shelter from 8 p.m. until midnight with a lighting setup to draw in moths and other insects and also will have his personal collection of silk moths on display.

Monroe Lake naturalist Jill Vance will offer a virtual program on Facebook Live on Thursday, July 28 at 11:30 a.m. This kid-friendly presentation will explore the differences between butterflies and moths and include some easy and fun ways to observe moths in your backyard. The program streams at facebook.com/monroelake and will be available there afterward if you miss the live presentation or want to watch it the naturalist will be "sugaring" for moths from 9:15 to 10:15 p.m. in the Deer Run playground and shelter area at the lake's Paynetown SRA. You can drop by to learn more about this method of attracting moths and see what species have been drawn in.

On Saturday, July 30,

Moth-themed craft activities for children also will be offered at Paynetown SRA throughout the week: Magnificent Moths from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and Rosy Maple Moth Greeting Cards from 2 to 3:30 p.m. on July 23; Yarn Doll Luna Moths from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on July 27; Majestic Moths from 10 to 11:30 a.m. on July 30; and Moth Masks from 2 to 3:30 p.m. on July 31.

Program details are listed at bit.ly/mothweek2022. Questions should be directed to the Paynetown Activity Center at 812-837-9967 or jvance@dnr.IN.gov.

All National Moth Week activities on site are included with property admission. The daily entrance fee at Paynetown and Fairfax SRAs is $7 per vehicle with Indiana license plate ($9 per vehicle with outof-state plates). Indiana State Park Annual Entrance Permits are also accepted.

Summer Commencement Ceremonies To Celebrate Students' Next Giant Leaps

Purdue University will celebrate almost 1,700 students' academic accomplishments during two summer commencement ceremonies on Aug. 6.

Eligible to participate in the ceremonies are 1,699 students - 510 undergraduate, 756 master's, 407 Ph.D. and 26 professional program candidates. Two posthumous degrees will be conferred: a Master of Science to Elif Ilkel from the Brian Lamb School of Communication, and a Bachelor of Science to John Zachary Linzey from Purdue Polytechnic Institute.

The ceremonies will take place as follows:

- Division I 9:30 a.m., Aug. 6. Undergraduate, master's and professional program candidates across all schools and colleges.
- Division II 1:30 p.m. Aug. 6. Ph.D. candidates across all schools and colleges.

Purdue alumnus Paul K. Kearns will be the keynote speaker at the morning ceremony. Clint Chapple, distinguished professor in the College of Agriculture's Department of Biochemistry, will be the keynote speaker at the afternoon ceremony. Kearns serves as the director of the U.S. Department of Energy's Argonne National Laboratory. He manages a growing multidisciplinary science and engineering research center with a $1.2 billion diversified research portfolio and more than 3,300 employees, 8,000 facility users and 800 visiting researchers. Kearns served as Argonne's chief operations officer from 2010-17. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He serves on the DOE National Laboratory Directors' Council and the U.S. Council on Competitiveness' National Commission on Innovation and Competitiveness Frontiers. He has doctorate and master's degrees in bionucleonics and a bachelor's degree in natural resources and environmental sciences, all from Purdue.

Chapple received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in botany and his Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of Guelph. Following his postdoctoral research at Michigan State University in the DOE Plant Research Lab, he joined Purdue. He served as biochemistry department head from 2008-15. From 2015-20, he served as director of the Purdue Center for Plant Biology. He has received numerous awards, including being named a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a fellow of the American Association of Plant Biologists and a member of the National Academy of Sciences.

William Raymer will give the student response at the 9:30 a.m. ceremony. Raymer is receiving his Master of Science in industrial engineering. Raymer grew up in the Democratic Republic of the Congo before moving to Utah at the age of 16. He earned a bachelor's degree in mathematics and statistics (composite) from Utah State University and was a member of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps. He was selected to become an officer in the U.S. Space Force. Raymer will continue as a Ph.D. student at Purdue in the fall and, upon graduation, will serve as a space operations officer with the U.S. Space

Tickets are required for admission to Elliott Hall of Music. Doors open 90 minutes before each ceremony. All attendees with bags must have their bags checked at the door for entry. Additional information is available on the Summer 2022 Commencement page.

The commencement ceremonies will be livestreamed.

Dual Language Programs Expand In State

By Staff Reports

The Indiana Department of Education announced a record number of schools statewide will receive grants to establish or expand dual language programs as part of Indiana's Dual Language Immersion Pilot Program.

The program, first launched in 2015, works to support schools as they help students develop language and cultural competency skills. It provides grants to school corporations or charter schools to establish or expand dual language programs in French, Mandarin, Spanish or other languages approved by the department.

The Dual Language Immersion Pilot Program has contributed to an expansion in Indiana's dual language programs from four schools in 2014 to 42 schools across the state for the upcoming school year, a news release said.

For the 2022-2023 school year, 30 schools in 21 school corporations were awarded a combined $595,000, with state grant dollars supplemented by federal Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief funds. This includes 28 schools that are expanding their existing programs and two new

Indiana's June 2022 Employment Report

Indiana's unemployment rate in June stands at 2.4%, according to the Indiana Department of Workforce Development. By comparison, the national unemployment rate in June remains at 3.6%, holding steady from May.

In addition, Indiana's labor force participation rate rose again, from 62.9% in May to 63.1% in June, remaining above the national rate of 62.2%. Indiana's total labor force, which includes both Hoosiers employed and those seeking employment, stands at 3,378,333 — an increase of 13,632 from the previous month. This is the highest level since February 2020.

"For the third time in four months, Hoosiers have set a new record for private-sector employment in Indiana," said DWD Interim Commissioner Josh Richardson.

"And, as a sign of Indiana's strong economic growth, employers still have near record numbers of job openings."

Private sector employment in Indiana increased by 5,000 jobs over the last month, translating to a gain of 108,300 jobs from this time last year. Total private employment now stands at 2,765,700. Industries that experienced job increases in

Legislation Has Millions In New Or Expanded Tax Credits, Exemptions And Medicaid Aid

By Whitney Downard An unnumbered House bill included in a packet for the chambers's Ways and Means Committee has millions for new and expanded adoption and child credits; additional Medicaid help and a repeal of the state sales tax on diapers.

The bill provides a rundown of priorities for House Republicans in the special session, slated to start Monday. It isn't listed on the General Assembly's website because House members can't formally introduce bills yet but it will be filed as House Bill 1001.

The packet lists Rep. Sharon Negele, R-Attica, as the author and retroactively takes effect on Jan. 1, 2022.

On inflation relief, the bill conforms with Gov. Eric Holcomb's push to return $1 billion of the state's reserves to Hoosiers via an automatic taxpayer refund of $225 to each eligible taxpayer. The bill expands the eligibility pool to individuals who don't file tax returns, such as those on disability or social security, by requiring them to file affidavits with the Indiana Department of Revenue.

After the agency verifies the affidavit, an estimated 300,000 to 800,000 Hoosiers on disability and social security will also qualify for the refund, increasing the $1.05 billion expenditure to $1.15 billion.

On Wednesday, Senate Republicans offered their own version of inflation relief that caps certain taxes and repeals utility taxes temporarily but reserves the bulk of the $1 billion to pad state budgets for capital improvement projects and pension debt.

Appropriations for social services

The proposed House bill includes $58.5 million for various programs to support families and children, including $30 million to the Family and Social Services Administration for enhanced Medicaid and Healthy Indiana Plan services.

That includes money to cover donated breast milk for Medicaid-covered newborns and other pregnancy services such as noninvasive prenatal screening as well as labor and delivery costs.

Waiving the tax on baby diapers, as outlined in the bill, would cost an estimated $6.2 million to $8.3 million annually and could possibly be in effect as early as September.

Other appropriations include $10 million to expand the Nurse-Family Partnership program for first-time parents, which currently serves 39 counties and aims to increase child well-being.

Safety PIN — or Protecting Indiana's Newborns — works to decrease the state's infant mortality rate, which recently improved in the state after being one of the worst in the nation. The program will receive $5.5 million in the proposal while another grant for $1 million will purchase newborn safety devices.

Finally, the Child Care and Development Fund voucher program will receive a $10 million boost, funding childcare options for poor families.

Provisions for adoptions

For parents looking to adopt in Indiana, the bill would increase the exemption amount subtracted from an individual's adjusted gross income as well as the tax credit, and creates an additional exemption.

Combined with an additional exemption for dependent children, the bill's fiscal statement estimates Indiana would lose between $22.9 million and $24 million in tax revenue in fiscal year 2024.

For dependent children, the exemption will increase from $1,500 to $1,600, or $100 for an estimated 1,750,000 dependent children, costing the state approximately $5.3 million annually.

First-time exemptions for newly claimed children (newborns or adopted children) doubles from $1,600 to $3,200, reducing General Fund revenues by an estimated $4.3 million yearly for 84,000 children. In 2019, Indiana had 80,851 births and the state averaged 3,044 adoptions annually between 2017 and 2021, the fiscal impact statement said.

On top of that exemption, adoptive parents will also receive a new $3,000 exemption.

The General Fund will receive another $800,000-$1 million reduction if the state increases its adoption tax credit to $2,500 – a tax credit approximately 1,535 tax filers claimed between 2017 and 2019.

"In anticipation of a bill protecting life passing during the special session, House Republicans will also pursue making significant investments to support moms, babies and families," said House Speaker Todd Huston. "Our proposal includes more than $20 million in tax exemptions and appropriates more than $58 million to boost proven programs, including helping more mothers in crisis, increasing availability and affordability of child care, supporting community-based programs focused on healthy babies and families, and encouraging more people to consider adoption."

now won't hurt your payment amount, you should claim your benefits immediately. You should also ask for six months of retroactive benefits. Although your benefit stopped growing at age 70 and you're now 78, Social Security will only pay up to six months of retroactive benefits, thus you have lost some of your benefits by waiting until age 78 to claim.

You can apply for your benefits either by calling SS at your local office or the national Social Security service center at 1.800.772.1213 to make an appointment to apply, or you can apply online at www.ssa.gov/retire. Applying online is by far the most efficient method, but you'll need to first create your personal "my Social Security" online account to do so (simply go to www.ssa. gov/myaccount and follow the instructions).

Since you're still working, and assuming you have "creditable" healthcare coverage from your employer, you can delay enrolling in Medicare until you stop working ("creditable" coverage is a group plan with at least 20 participants). If you haven't yet enrolled in Medicare and you've had creditable healthcare coverage since you were 65, you will not incur a late enrollment penalty for enrolling in Medicare now, but you can also continue to defer enrolling in Medicare without penalty if your employer

I strongly encourage you to apply for your Social Security benefits as soon as possible, because you will continue to lose money by delaying further. You will still get credit for your current earnings even after you start your Social Security benefits and, if appropriate because of your recent earnings, your benefit amount will be automatically increased, so there is no reason to delay claiming Social and research programs in your community to address them. While there are assistance programs available to help seniors age with dignity, the Cross Country Workforce Solutions Group survey found that the majority of older Americans are unaware of an important one: Programs of All-Inclusive Care for the Elderly (PACE), a national program of comprehensive care for adults age 55 and over who would prefer to remain living at home rather than in a nursing facility. In some communities, PACE is known as Living Independently for the Elderly (LIFE). These programs can make living at home a safer and more affordable option than institutional-

"This program has provided me with the best caregiver. She is a great person with a great heart, and she goes above and beyond during my home care services," says Luther Bell, PACE participant. "I feel like I have improved a lot in many ways because my caregiver meal preps for me, provides quality care, and our daily interactions bring positivity to my life."

• Start a dialogue: Talk to your family and friends about your wishes and where you would like to receive care. Also, continue to have regular conversations with your doctors about your health.

• Consider your budget: While the average senior collects just $18,000 annually in social security, 57% of survey respondents have not considered the budget they will need for aged care services and support. Take time to learn how much various aspects of care will cost, factoring in standard living expenses.

For additional survey results and information about home healthcare, visit www.crosscountry-healthcare.com/aging-in-place.

"At a time when the burden on hospitals and health systems has at times compromised their ability to deliver quality care, living at home with support can provide optimized care and independence to seniors," says Jung.

this false impression. I was miseducated, if you will, that our public school system was still functioning in the way that it was maybe, you know, 50, 60 years ago." But it was during the covid lockdowns that her eyes were opened and she saw that her children were being indoctrinated "to hate America, to question themselves, to hate themselves, to think that America is a horrible place. I would see it happening firsthand, and I was shocked. I would see teachers and principals not wanting to do the Pledge of Allegiance."

Jill says that our education system is being hijacked nationwide as more and more schools embrace the so-called Critical Race Theory [CRT], which is designed "to divide and confuse, to weaken us as a society so that the government can ultimately have control."

Her advice to parents and grandparents is that it's time to wake up, to get involved at the school your children attend and to ask questions. "Go to the school's website and look at its mission statement. Look at what type of words they are using on their school website to talk about what the district or the school is really trying to implement." And, she adds, be on the lookout for "dangerous code words that are linked to CRT, words such as diversity, equity, inclusion, and affinity groups. If you see anything about affinity groups listed anywhere on any of your schools or district, websites run the other way." Jill explains that affinity groups may sound great, they may sound like clubs, but they are not clubs. They are a way to separate students into factions based on race as a way to divide them.

Of course there is always the private school option available to some families, but Simonian warns that not all private schools are free of proponents of the CRT. That may leave you with only one option—to join the growing ranks of homeschoolers.
