Psalms 1:1-3 Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the LORD; and in his law doth he meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that bringeth forth his fruit in his season; his leaf also shall not wither; and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper.

➤ THREE THINGS You Should Know:

1 It was Halloween and Kristina Kallman of Waconia, MN was off to a party. So she left a bowl of candy on her porch so that trick-or-treaters could help themselves, according to the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. Along came 12-year-old Abby and her younger brother Levi and found that other kids had already emptied the bowl. So what did they do? Abby and Levi reached into the candies they had already collected and refilled bowl. When their mom told them that it was the right thing to do, Abby replied, "Well I didn't want other kids to not have candy."

Ask Rusty - When Will My Wife be Eligible for Full Survivor Benefits?

Dear Rusty: I heard my spouse will get 100% of my Social Security when I pass if she is at her full retirement age (FRA), which is 66 years and 8 months. But I also heard that full widow benefits for those born in 1958 are available at 66 years and 4 months. Which is correct?

Then I heard that her getting 100% of my social security is NOT the case because I started social security at 70. I heard this is because widow benefits are based on my benefit at my full retirement age. So, will my wife get 100% of my Social Security if she starts it at her FRA, or will she get my smaller FRA amount?

My wife is now getting spousal benefits and I also heard that for those getting spousal benefits, Social Security automatically changes that to widow benefits when the other spouse passes. If I die before my wife reaches her FRA, can she tell Social Security to NOT give her widow benefits at that time? Can she wait until she is at her FRA and then start widow benefits to get 100% of mine? Signed: Concerned Husband

Common Misconceptions about Prostate Health, BPH

(Family Features) Prostate health may be an intimidating subject for some men, which can lead to misconceptions about conditions and treatments. Some men may even avoid visiting a doctor because of what they might learn. Breaking this stigma around prostate issues could help prevent complications from conditions like benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH), commonly known as an enlarged prostate.

Under a doctor's care, BPH can be effectively treated; over 14 million men in the U.S. seek treatment every year. To help clear up some of the confusion and fear around prostate health, here is a breakdown of five common misconceptions about BPH.

Misconception: BPH is linked to prostate cancer

Is BPH linked to prostate cancer? No. While both conditions affect the prostate gland, BPH is a benign (non-cancerous) condition, and the symptoms can typically be addressed with medications and/or other treatment options.

William Kirk Hole

Sept. 16, 1938 - Nov. 8, 2022

William Kirk Hole passed away at his home in Crawfordsville on Nov. 8, 2022 after a long and brave battle with Lewy Body Disease.

He was born Sept. 16, 1938 to Myrl and Lester Hole in Crawfordsville, Ind.

He was raised on the family farm in the Youngs Chapel area. He loved fishing, hunting, and trapping; as well as pitching horseshoes, shooting pool, and ice skating on the family pond. And of course, he loved eating ice cream! Farming was his passion, and he was dedicated to the Allis Chalmers tractor line long after they ceased production.

The farm was a family affair as he raised hogs, cattle, and grain. He always had a large garden. One year, due to an abundant crop of sweet corn, he sold the extra to Gooding's Produce Stand. That marked the beginning of Hole's Sweet Corn. Many will likely remember the sight of his old red truck delivering sweet corn to Gooding's. He enjoyed laughing and visiting with all the people there. Family members have continued the produce business.

He married Alma Newby on March 5, 1960. For 62 years they partnered together in the same home with farming, church, friends, and all things in common. Alma survives. He was preceded in death by his parents; and his sister, Esther Krukewitt.

The family will receive visitors on Sunday, Nov. 13 from 2 - 4 p.m. at the Memorial Hall of the Darlington Christian Church. A Celebration of Bill's life will begin at 4 p.m. Friends are asked to come prepared to share memories, funny stories or ways their lives were impacted by Bill. If you wish to share (but do not want to read publicly), feel free to bring your thoughts in written form. The family would like to compile a book of these precious memories.

Mr. Hole chose cremation. His remains will be laid to rest at Greenlawn Cemetery in Darlington, Indiana at a later date. The family wishes to thank Southern-Care Hospice and Burkhart Funeral Home for their assistance and support.

Mary Ellen In Jeopardy

Mary Ellen and I watch "Jeopardy," and the other evening we discussed how Ken Jennings chats with the contestants, giving each one an open-ended question to prompt a funny or interesting personal story. Mary Ellen feared that if she ever got on the show, she'd have trouble coming up with five entertaining anecdotes, assuming she won every night for a week. Together, we crafted some fun ones. Her responses here all 100% true.

FIRST NIGHT

KEN: I understand you had an embarrassing nickname in elementary school?

MARY ELLEN: Yes, Ken, when I was in the fifth grade, I was 5 feet 5 inches tall—much taller than anyone else in the class, including the boys. I was also very skinny and had a Pixie haircut.

KEN: So, what did they call you?

MARY ELLEN: The Galloping Hairpin.

NIGHT NUMBER TWO

KEN: You have a fun story about how you and your husband met. Tell us about it.

MARY ELLEN: Well, Ken, in 1975 a co-worker asked me to have dinner with her, her husband and several friends. One of those friends was Dick Wolfsie, who sat right across from me for two hours. We never talked or even exchanged glances. Three years later Dick and I were fixed up on a blind date. It wasn't until we had been married a few years that we realized the blind date was not the first time we met.

KEN (laughing) I guess you made a really big impression on each other.

NIGHT THREE

KEN: I understand that on your honeymoon, you had an embarrassing experience.

MARY ELLEN: That's right, Ken. My husband and I had returned from a romantic evening in Big Sur, California. It was 2 a.m. and we figured all the guests would be asleep. We decided get in the hot tub without any clothes on. But we both chickened out and showed up in our suits. In the pool area were about 40 people ages 8 to 80, completely naked, just staring at us.

DICK WOLFSIE

KEN: What did they say?

MARY ELLEN: They said, "You must be from the Midwest."

NIGHT FOUR

KEN: I have been told that your husband's long TV career was the result of your banning a stray dog from your house.

MARY ELLEN: That's true, Ken. Dick found a lost beagle on our front porch many years ago, but he was very mischievous and destructive. The beagle, that is. Anyway, I told Dick if he wanted to keep the dog, he had to take him to work with him every morning. He did, and Barney ended up on TV with my husband and became a star—the dog, I mean. I take all the credit for Barney's success.

NIGHT FIVE

KEN: Is it true you married your husband because you thought he was going to be a college professor?

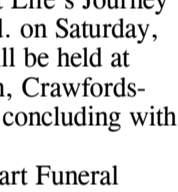

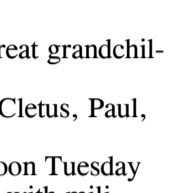

MARY ELLEN: That's right, Ken. When we met, he had just retired from teaching high school after nine years and had taken a position at a TV station in Columbus, Ohio, as an associate producer. He hated the job, so I figured he would go back to college and get his PhD and teach at a university. You know, do something serious with his life.

KEN: So, did he end up doing something serious?

MARY ELLEN: Not at all. But he did it for 40 years. I'll give him that.

What if I ever got a chance to go on Jeopardy? Find out next week.

Dick Wolfsie spent his career sharing his humor, stories and video essays on television, radio and in newspapers. His columns appear weekly in The Paper of Montgomery County. E-mail Dick at Wolfsie@aol.com.

Kenny Remembers Purdue Legends, Plus News And Notes

Purdue football lost its second legend in 2022 when Hall of Fame defensive tackle Dave Butz died Nov. 4 at the age of 72.

Pro Football Hall of Fame quarterback Len Dawson passed away on Aug. 24 at the age of 87. Butz is the third former Boilermaker great to die in 2022. Basketball All-American Caleb Swanigan succumbed from natural causes on June 20. He was 25.

Butz was one of three NFL first round draft picks in 1972 to come out of Purdue's greatest football recruiting class. All three are now deceased. Otis Armstrong was 70 when he passed away in 2021, and Darryl Stingley was 55 when he died in 2007. Stingley's death was partially attributed to pneumonia complicated by his paralysis suffered during an NFL exhibition game in 1978.

At 6-7, 280 pounds, Butz was such a great athlete that he was offered a basketball scholarship by legendary Kentucky coach Adolph Rupp. It might have been difficult for Rupp to find basketball shoes to fit Butz, who wore size 13s with 7E widths.

"In junior high I could backhand stuff a ball," Butz told the Lafayette Journal & Courier's Mike Carmin in 2014. "It's a lot easier to acquire another human being than play with a round ball."

Butz was a consensus All-American in 1972 and was chosen to Purdue's All-Time Team in 1987, spanning the Boilermakers' first 100 years of football. Butz was inducted into the

KENNY THOMPSON
Columnist

Purdue Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame in 2004. The College Football Hall of Fame elected Butz in 2014.

Butz made NFL history in 1975 when Washington gave up two No. 1 draft picks and a No. 2 pick to sign him away from the St. Louis Cardinals. At the time the deal was the largest compensation package in league history.

Named NFL Defensive Player of the Year in 1983, Butz missed just four games from 1973 to 1988 while helping Washington win two Super Bowls. When Butz retired at the age of 38, he was the NFL's oldest active starter. He was selected to the NFL 1980s All-Decade Team.

Outstanding debut First college basketball game, first Purdue record set by Westfield's Braden Smith.

Playing a game-high 29 minutes, the reigning Indiana Mr. Basketball recorded seven steals – the most by a freshman in Boilermaker history – during an 84-53 victory against Milwaukee on Tuesday night in Mackey Arena.

Smith fell one steal shy of Ricky Hall's school record set against Louisville on Nov. 30, 1983. Brian Cardinal and Bruce Parkinson also had seven steals in a single game.

Smith also contributed seven points, four rebounds and four assists.

Fellow freshman starting guard Fletcher Loyer led Purdue with 17 points. Loyer's five 3-pointers tied the single-game school record for 3-pointers made by a freshman. Loyer shares the record with teammate Brandon Newman, Isaiah Thompson, Chris Lutz, David Teague, Melvin Buckley and Linc Darnier.

Newman added 16 points. Junior center Zach Edey recorded career highs of 17 rebounds and six blocked shots to go with 12 points.

Edey is one of 20 players on the watch list for the Kareem Abdul-Jabbar Award, given annually to the nation's top center.

It's the seventh time in the last eight seasons Purdue has had a player on the initial Abdul-Jabbar watch list. The others were A.J. Hammons in 2016, Isaac Haas in 2017 and 2018, Matt Haarms in 2020, Trevion

Williams in 2021 and Edey last season.

The Big Ten placed three centers on the list with Rutgers' Cliff Omoruyi and Michigan's Hunter Dickenson earning places.

Surprise, surprise, surprise

Purdue wide receiver Charlie Jones is one of college football's 25 most surprising players, according to ESPN.com writer Adam Rittenberg.

To be sure, Boilermaker fans were probably expecting a boost to the return game by luring the reigning Big Ten Specialist of the Year from Iowa.

Other than in the Jones and Aidan O'Connell households did anyone imagine Purdue would get a replacement for Cleveland Browns rookie David Bell at wide receiver.

Jones is second in the nation with 83 receptions for 944 yards and nine touchdowns. The receiving yards rank sixth in the nation and the touchdown catches are tied for fourth. Jones also leads the Big Ten in receptions and yards while trailing Ohio State's Marvin Harrison Jr. by one TD.

At Iowa a year ago, Jones had 21 receptions for 323 yards and three touchdowns.

"What separates the good receivers from the great guys is that they can make catches when there's somebody attached to them, or when the ball is thrown in an area and it's him and one guy," Purdue wide receivers coach Garrick McGee told ESPN. "He can track the ball well and he's extremely competitive. He's always competing for the ball when the ball is in the air."

Some critics masquerading as Purdue fans on social media wonder if Jones is getting too much attention from O'Connell. Jones does have twice as many receptions as No. 2 target Payne Durham, who has 41 receptions for 411 yards and four touchdowns.

These same people probably would have cried for someone other than All-American Rondale Moore and Bell to get the ball the past few years. These are the same folks who believe every kid should get a trophy without earning it and that sports (and life) are supposed to be fair.

Moore's success begat Bell, whose success lured Jones to West Lafayette. Jones' numbers will almost certainly attract a higher caliber of wide receiver transfer during the offseason.

"He can run and stop, we try to have him do a lot of different things," McGee said. "Most of the (NFL) scouts who come in say they really like him. We just want to continue to make a statement that if you're a transfer player and you're going to hit the portal, we have an example of a kid who didn't have many catches a year ago. He transferred here, and now he could potentially get an opportunity to be an NFL player."

Jones also made the Top 10 college football transfer teams selected by The Athletic and ESPN.

Ageless champions At 73 years old, Dusty Baker became the oldest World Series-winning manager when the Houston Astros topped the Philadelphia Phillies in six games.

Baker also became the oldest manager or head coach in Major League Baseball, NBA, NFL or NHL history to win a championship according to STATS.

George Halas was 68 years, 333 days old when the Chicago Bears won the 1963 NFL championship. During the Super Bowl era (1967-present), Bruce Arians of Tampa Bay holds the oldest coach distinction at 68 years, 127 days.

Larry Brown was 63 years, 275 days when he coached the Detroit Pistons to the 2004 NBA championship in 2004. Scotty Bowman hoisted the Stanley Cup for the record ninth time in 2002 at age 68 years, 268 days with the Detroit Red Wings.

Kenny Thompson is the former sports editor for the Lafayette Journal & Courier and an award-winning journalist. He has covered Purdue athletics for many years.

RUSTY

There are two “full retirement age” numbers which will be in effect for your wife if you pass first – 1) her “normal” full retirement age (FRA), and 2) her “widow’s full retirement age.”

Your wife’s “normal FRA” is 66 years and 8 months and that is when her personal SS retirement benefit can be claimed without reduction, and when she will no longer be subject to Social Security’s earnings test if she is still working. Your wife’s “widow’s FRA” is determined by subtracting two years from her birth year and the FRA number for that year becomes her “widow’s FRA,” which is the age at which she becomes eligible for unreduced survivor benefits. In your wife’s case her “widow’s FRA” is 4 months earlier than her normal FRA, or 66 years and 4 months.

The confusion about whether your wife’s survivor benefit will be based on your FRA entitlement, or your age 70 amount usually stems from the fact that a spouse’s benefit while both partners are living is based on FRA amounts, whereas your wife’s benefit as your surviving spouse is based on the full amount you were receiving when you died. Thus, your wife’s current benefit as your spouse is based on your age 66 amount, but her benefit as your widow will be based on your age 70 amount. If you predeceased her, your wife’s benefit as your survivor (if she has reached her “widow’s FRA” of 66 plus 4 months) will be 100% of your age 70 amount (including any cost of living adjustments subsequently awarded), and that will replace the smaller benefit she is now receiving as your spouse.

Whether your wife’s survivor benefit will be automatically awarded depends on whether her current benefit consists of her own Social Security retirement benefit from her own lifetime work record plus a spousal boost from your record. If that is the case, then her survivor benefit will not be awarded until she claims it. If, however, your wife’s current benefit is based solely on your record, when Social Security receives notification of your death, they will automatically award your wife’s benefit as your surviving widow. If she has already reached her “widow’s FRA” when that happens, her new benefit amount will be the same as you were receiving when you died. But if your wife hasn’t yet reached her widow’s FRA, her survivor benefit will be awarded at that time but reduced by .396% for each month earlier than her FRA. So, if her current benefit is based solely on your Social Security earnings record, your wife will not have the option to delay her survivor benefit until her widow’s FRA.

Misconception: Medication and major surgery are the only types of BPH treatment

Men with BPH may have options for treatment beyond medications that may offer relief without the risk of side effects that can come with medications, such as dizziness, headaches, sexual dysfunction and, in some men, an increased risk of heart and eye issues.

Minimally invasive therapies are available for BPH treatment. The UroLift(r) System is a minimally invasive procedure that has been used by 350,000 men worldwide. This procedure lifts and holds enlarged prostate tissue out of the way without cutting to stop blocking the urethra. The procedure can be performed using local anesthesia in a physician’s office or ambulatory surgery center, and patients typically return home the same day without a catheter. For men with BPH, this option may be an alternative to medications and more invasive surgeries like TURP.

The procedure is indicated for treating symptoms of an enlarged prostate up to 100cc in men 45 years of age or older. Individual results may vary. Most common side effects are temporary and include pain or burning with urination, blood in urine, pelvic pain, urgent need to urinate or the inability to control the urge. Rare side effects, including bleeding and infection, may lead to a serious outcome and require intervention. Speak with your doctor to determine if you may be a candidate.

Misconception: Only seniors have symptoms of BPH

Are senior men the only ones who have symptoms of BPH? No. Even men in their forties may experience BPH symptoms, so don’t assume you’re too young to talk to your doctor about BPH. If you are diagnosed with BPH, your doctor can discuss treatment options that fit your needs and help you decide on the best approach.

Misconception: BPH-related urination issues will always disrupt a man’s life and sleep

A common symptom of BPH is frequent urination. This has the potential to disrupt a man’s day-to-day schedule and sleep cycle, but it’s not inevitable. If you have BPH, proper treatment can help improve quality of life and reduce the need for frequent urination, which can make it easier to sleep through the night. Yet another great reason to be proactive about BPH diagnosis and treatment!

Misconception: BPH doesn’t affect a man’s bladder health

BPH can affect bladder health if it’s left untreated. BPH can be progressive and lead to difficulty in urinating, bladder stones, UTIs and ongoing need for a catheter. This is another good reason to be proactive and talk to your doctor about prostate health. To learn more about BPH, including symptoms, diagnosis and treatment options, visit UroLift.com.

FRAUD

theft protection expert Carrie Kerskie says being aware of what new cyber and phone fraud trends to look out for is your biggest defense against unwanted fraud.

“The more that we can get this information out there the better,” Kerskie recently told T-Mobile Stories, “Unfortunately when it comes to technology, privacy and identity theft, the same old advice that was given 10, 15 years ago is still the gospel of what you’re supposed to do. And that is outdated. None of it works. It’s not true, it’s not relevant anymore.”

Scammers have expanded from targeting consumers with only traditional email and phone calls. The most recent trending scams are occurring using person-to-person payment platforms or P2P, remote access software and even public Wi-Fi.

Kerskie says the most desirable accounts to criminals include bank accounts, mobile phone accounts, credit card accounts and Amazon accounts. Now, with P2P payment platforms, criminals can get access to your bank account and use it to transfer money within moments.

The latest tactic that concerns Kerskie is using remote access software to gain access to everything on your computer without having to directly ask you for things like your social security number, bank account or credit card number. While many workers use remote access software safely from their companies’ IT departments, criminals are also using this software in their scams.

Criminals also try to access your information in settings like coffee shops or libraries using public Wi-Fi. A laptop or smartphone using public Wi-Fi can easily fall victim to scams. An easy fix is to use your smartphone’s wireless data and hotspot to help keep your personal information secure.

Kerskie says there are ways to keep scammers and fraud at bay ahead of the holiday shopping season.

Prioritize Privacy: Kerskie says, if it’s easy for you, it’s easy for a criminal. Privacy means having strong and unique passwords with a minimum of 12 characters, and for pins using random numbers and taking advantage of extra security. Enabling multi-factor authentication on your various apps and accounts will also protect yourself from potential threats.

Use Available Resources: Take advantage of the free anti-fraud safeguards offered by your mobile carrier. In the case of T-Mobile’s Scam Shield, services include enhanced caller ID, scam ID and blocking, which flags suspicious calls and gives customers the option of blocking those numbers. Additionally, customers can get a free second number to keep their personal number personal, or even change their primary number completely.

Validate or Eliminate: Whatever potential threat you come across via email, text message, letter or even a phone call, try to validate the information. If you cannot confirm the information is true or confirm the senders’ validity, throw it away, block the phone number or email address and report it as spam or junk mail.

Understanding how potential cyber threats and fraud work will help protect you this holiday season and beyond.

I have a class for you! Wednesday nights, January 18- February 8, at 5:30-8:30pm at the 4-H Exhibit Hall. The Power of Information and Open Conversation: A Land Leasing Series for Women in Agriculture program is a Risk Management Education funded grant between Kansas, Nebraska, and Indiana that focuses on land lease basics, written lease agreements, landlord-tenant communication, negotiations, and conservation that is open to all, not just women.

Lastly, I want to welcome all those that are interested in becoming more involved in the community through volunteerism and gardening. For Spring 2023, there will be a Statewide Virtual Purdue EMG Basic Training from February 7 – May 9. Many counties have come together to offer this program which includes a local county connection hour. The statewide live webinars will be held on Wednesdays, from 6:30 – 8:30 pm (ET)/5:30 – 7:30 pm (CT). Here in Montgomery County, the local county connection hour will be on Thursdays at 5:30-6:30 pm each week. This will be offered in-person at the 4-H Exhibit Hall on the Montgomery County Fairgrounds.

The class costs $180, which includes the pint version of the Purdue EMG Manual.

If you are you are interested in any of these learning opportunities, please contact myself, Tricia Herr. 765-364-6363 or triciaherr@purdue.edu square foot facility will provide approximately 125 child care seats for infants through age five. The estimated cost to build this facility is $3.7 million. The building will be owned by MCCF and they will partner with a high-quality provider to operate the facility.

Tricia Herr is the Agriculture and Natural Resources Educator for the Montgomery County Purdue Extension Office. She can be reached at triciaherr@purdue.edu .

The following businesses and organizations have pledged their partnership in this endeavor: City of Crawfordsville, Early Learning Indiana, Montgomery County Commissioners, Montgomery County Community Foundation, Hoosier Heartland State Bank, Lakeside Book Company, Nucor, Tempur Sealy, and Tri-County Bank and Trust.

Additional funding is needed for this vital project; thanks to an anonymous donor, there is now a $1 for $1 matching gift incentive up to $500,000. If you would like to partner in this investment opportunity that will benefit our children, please send donations to MCCF, PO Box 334, Crawfordsville, or visit www.mccf-in.org to donate online and choose the Montgomery County Early Learning Center Fund.

More detailed information about the proposed Early Learning Center, including timelines for completion, investment opportunities, and operational information can be found at www.mccf-in.org. To learn more about how you can partner and support this project, contact Kelly Taylor, MCCF, at 765-362-1267 or kelly@mccf-in.org.

The groundwork has been laid, and much time and effort given, to increase local program quality and strengthen local program supports in the area of early education. Our current child care educators are committed to providing high-quality education and support. However, the fact remains that more high-quality seats are needed in Montgomery County as we are able to serve only 11% of our children under the age of five with high-quality care. This serious issue also affects employers as a lack of available and affordable high-quality child care prevents parents from seeking and keeping employment, and results in work disruptions such as employee absences and turnover. The lack of access to child care costs Montgomery County businesses $7.9 million annually.

The MCCF identified work in this area as a top strategic initiative, and a top priority in grantmaking. Using a proactive approach, the MCCF began to look for opportunities to expand child care seats in our community, with a focus on innovative and creative solutions. After months of discussions and planning, this transformational project for our community, more importantly, for our children, is now underway. The need is critical for our families, employers, and our community to have additional high-quality child care seats. The time is now and the opportunity is before us to create a long-term, sustainable solution. Please join us in this critical endeavor; working together we can make positive change today, and far into the future.
