TODAY'S VERSE

John 1:1-5 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. In him was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not.

2 Joni Keeney of Shepherdsville, KY usually gets a thumbs up and a smile for her front yard Christmas decorations but this year one passerby called the cops, reports the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. Keeney's display featured a character from the classic National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation in which the scantily clad character, Cousin Eddie, stands outside of his RV emptying its toilet tank. The onlooker, whoever she was, didn't get the joke and called the police, complaining that there was an improperly dressed man standing outside of the Kenney home exposing himself. When the police showed up they quickly saw that the caller mistook the dummy for a depraved exhibitioner and they laughed out loud.

OK, Get Ready...Butch's New Year's Resolutions

BUTCH DALE
Columnist

Well, 2023 has arrived. It's time for my New Year's resolutions and goals for this year:

1. Finances...I hereby resolve NOT to save money. Besides, I am fairly certain that to actually SAVE money, your income must exceed your expenses. I found out my car needs major repairs this week, so I am on my way! I am pretty healthy. Does anyone need any slightly used internal organs at discounted prices? I am willing to negotiate.
2. Diet...I hereby resolve to stick with my present diet.

One half cup of oatmeal for breakfast. No lunch. Then whatever is placed in front of me for dinner. According to what my folks drilled into my brain, I should be glad to have ANY food. "There are people in Africa who are starving, you know." Thanks, Mom and Dad.

3. Smoking...I hereby resolve to never take up smoking again. I quit 22 years ago. Can't stand to even smell cigarette smoke...and $7.00 a pack..Whoa! Marijuana? Never tried it. Have no desire to escape reality and become a '70s flower child.

4. Woke-ism...I hereby resolve to tune out anyone who attempts to legitimize abnormal behavior or promotes flawed facts. This includes the government and any company, such as Disney. Transgender athletes, "forced diversity" proponents, climate alarmists, Whoopi Goldberg, and Mickey Mouse

Experienced Certified Crop Advisor At Ceres Solutions Receives Top Award

Troy Jenkins, a veteran member of the Agronomy Team at Ceres Solutions Cooperative, has been named by Indiana CCA as the Top Certified Crop Advisor of 2022. The award was presented at the annual gathering of Indiana CCA in Indianapolis in mid-December.

Jenkins said he was completely humbled to be nominated for the award and described the recognition of receiving it as "a career highlight for me. Absolutely. This is a highlight to have worked my whole career here in local agriculture, and to be judged to be worthy of this award."

Jenkins was joined at the ceremony by Joe Daubenmier, a member of the Indiana CCA Board, who nominated him for the honor. He was also joined by Ceres Solutions Agronomist Betsy Bower, who herself earned the award in the early 2000s. Jenkins credits Bower and also credits Ceres Solutions Agronomist Jeff Nagel as outstanding team mates whose friendship and expertise have been pivotal in the success of his career.

For those who have known Jenkins all his life, it is no surprise that he threw all his energy and enthusiasm into the field of agriculture. As someone who loves to read, learn and spend time outdoors, Jenkins discovered his passion while earning a degree as an agronomist from Michigan State University. Following graduation, Jenkins joined the staff at what was then Monsanto for several years, before coming over to the Cooperative System in the early 1990s. He has grown his professional skillset by continuing to take course credits and earn certification points every two years. He also competed the requirements to earn a 2016 distinction as a 4R Specialist with expertise in nutrient management. He describes his role at Ceres Solutions as his "dream job."

"I get to work with farmers to help them become more profitable, but I also truly enjoy the daily opportunity to help set our field staff up for professional success," he says. Jenkins is the primary support agronomist for dozens of field employees in his region as they work directly with farm customers of Ceres. Jenkins bases out of an office in Mentone, Indiana, but is constantly on the road assisting staff across northern Indiana and up into Michigan. Many of the team members he supports who are newer to the business are the same age of Jenkins' own children. "I love that this is my job..." he says. "I get to teach, mentor and train our team to be the best they can be."

Mentoring is not a role Jenkins takes lightly. He believes in educating the field staff not only on sound agronomics, but also on the wisdom and insights gained in more than three deacades walking fields and meeting farmers. "The CCA Award is special to me since CCA is an organization that values integrity. The membership adheres to a code of ethics and we build long-term relationships we can be proud of having," says Jenkins. "It is the same at Ceres. We operate with a formal list of shared values and truths that guide our business. I coach up our team to not only excel agronomically, but also to serve as leaders in our field. That's our obligation... to strive for excellence."

Ceres Solutions is proud to congratulate experienced professional and mentor Troy Jenkins on receiving this prestigious award. For more information about Ceres, visit www.ceres.coop.

Here's Some Of Kenny's Favorite Basketball Quotes

Vince Lombardi, the legendary Green Bay Packers coach whose name is on the trophy that goes to the Super Bowl championship team, once said that success comes before work only in the dictionary.

Larry Bird did not become a legend at Indiana State and for the Boston Celtics on just talent alone.

"I don't know if I practiced more than anybody, but I sure practiced enough," Bird once said. "I still wonder if somebody - somewhere - was practicing more than me."

Another basketball legend, Wilt Chamberlain, took a different view toward practice.

"They say that nobody is perfect. Then they tell you practice makes perfect. I wish they'd make up their minds."

The 7-foot-1 Chamberlain was one of the greatest athletes to don a uniform. A Hall of Fame volleyball player and an outstanding track athlete, about the only thing Chamberlain couldn't do was beat Bill Russell and the Boston Celtics for the NBA championship.

With the assistance of hoopsfiend.com and goodreads.com, here are some of my favorite basketball quotes.

"The key is not the 'will to win' ... everybody has that. It is the will to prepare to win that is important." - Bob Knight, who prepared Army, Indiana and Texas Tech basketball teams well enough to record 902 victories and three national championships.

KENNY THOMPSON
Columnist

Hoosier, John Wooden, once said, "Ability may get you to the top, but it takes character to keep you there."

Wooden's mentor, Ward "Piggy" Lambert, was a master psychologist, believing "basketball is a mental game."

Lambert won 371 games and 11 Big Ten Conference championships at Purdue. Despite having 16 All-Americans and two future members of the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame, Lambert knew he couldn't win on just talent alone.

"If a team is going great guns, you should pick out a few flaws between halves, deflate them a little and warn them that the other team is due for its inning. But if your boys are already down you must do everything in your power to lift them back up and you can't do that by criticizing them."

This quote from Scottie Pippen drips with irony: "Sometimes a player's greatest challenge is coming to grips with his role on the team."

Even though he was elected to the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2010 and named to the NBA's

Ward 'Piggy' Lambert with Charles 'Stretch' Murphy

75th Anniversary team in 2021, Pippen sometimes struggled to come to grips with being in the enormous shadow of Michael Jordan during their nearly 10 years together on the Chicago Bulls.

Jordan, like Bird and other great athletes, never had a fear of failure.

In fact, Jordan always believed failure made him arguably the greatest basketball player of all time.

"I've missed more than 9,000 shots in my career. I've lost almost 300 games. Twenty-six times I've been trusted to take the game-winning shot and missed. I've failed over and over and over again in my life. And that is why I succeed."

Jordan's longtime rival, Charles Barkley, was more succinct about overcoming fear of failure.

"If you are afraid of failure you don't deserve to be successful."

Noteworthy As expected, Purdue junior center Zach Edey was among 25 players selected to the Wooden Award Midseason Top 25 list on Wednesday by the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Edey is seeking to join Glenn Robinson as Purdue's second winner of the Wooden Award, given annually to the nation's best college basketball player.

The former 440th best recruit in the class of 2020 is considered the front-runner for the award thanks to a dominating 2022-23 season thus far. Edey is averaging 21.7 points, 13.4 rebounds and 2.2 blocks per game while shooting better than 63 percent from the field and nearly 75 percent at the free throw line.

His 11 double-doubles and his rebounding average both rank second in the nation. Edey currently owns the nation's longest streak with 30 consecutive games scoring at least 10 points.

At his current pace, based on a 35-game season, Edey would become the first player in the last 30 years to compile 750 points, 450 rebounds and 75 blocked shots in the same season.

Edey recently became the 55th member of Purdue's 1,000-point club. Entering Thursday night's game at Ohio State, Edey has 1,059 points. Assuming Edey maintains his 21-point average, he'll pass Bob Purkhisser, Woody Austin and Kenneth Lowe for 45th place. ...

Two former Indianapolis Colts greats are among 15 finalists for the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Wide receiver Reggie Wayne is back on the ballot for the fourth consecutive year. Defensive end Dwight Freeney made the cut in his first year of eligibility. The 2023 class will be announced Feb. 9.

Wayne and Freeney hope to join Colts contemporaries Peyton Manning (inducted 2021), Marvin Harrison (2016), Edgerrin James (2020), head coach Tony Dungy (2016) and general manager Bill Polian (2015) in Canton, Ohio.

During his 14-year career, Wayne caught 1,070 passes for 14,345 yards. Both totals rank 10th in NFL history.

Freeney recorded 125-and-a-half sacks, mostly with the Colts from 2002-2012. He was named to the NFL's All-Decade team for the 2000s.

Freeney was one of three players making the cut in their first year of eligibility, the others being cornerback Darrelle Revis and offensive tackle Joe Thomas.

Chicago Bears great Devin Hester also is on the ballot along with defensive end Jared Allen, offensive tackle Willie Anderson, defensive back Ronde Barber, wide receivers Torry Holt and Andre Johnson, cornerback Albert Lewis, safety Darren Woodson and linebackers Zach Thomas, DeMarcus Ware and Patrick Willis.

Also on the ballot are senior finalists Chuck Howley, Joe Klecko and Ken Riley, along with contributor/coach finalist Don Coryell.

Kenny Thompson is the former sports editor for the Lafayette Journal & Courier and an award-winning journalist. He has covered Purdue athletics for many years.

Federal Grant Will Help Improve Quality, Access, Affordability Of Early Childhood Care, Education

The Indiana Family and Social Services Administration Office of Early Childhood and Out-of-School Learning, in partnership with the Indiana Department of Education Office of Kindergarten Readiness, has been awarded a $42 million federal grant. These dollars will be used over three years to implement programmatic changes that will improve Indiana's capacity to recruit early educators, increase access to early learning opportunities for students in underserved areas and ultimately, support families as they make important decisions regarding their child's education.

"These funds come at a key time as Indiana has built the foundation for innovation through the collaborative partnership of FSSA, IDOE and the Early Learning Advisory Committee. Together we are uniquely prepared to best serve children and families across the state," said Maureen Weber, chairwoman of the Early Learning Advisory Committee.

The three-year grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services will award $14 million annually to FSSA, which partnered with the Indiana Department of Education on the grant application.

Combined with FSSA's $4.2 million annual investment as matching funds required by the grant, $54.6 million will be leveraged in total to accelerate and build Indiana's capacity to implement long-lasting change, including:

- Building upon stakeholders' understanding of the needs, gaps and inequities in Indiana's birth-through-age-5 mixed delivery system, especially as they relate to underserved populations

- Refreshing Indiana's birth-through-age-5 strategic plan to reflect the current environment and the existing opportunities to drive system-level change

- Amplifying the voices of families in decision-making and introducing new services and educational supports that empower them as their child's first and most important teacher

- Introducing new workforce recruitment and career pathways, building the operational capacity of early childhood care and education providers and enhancing workforce conditions and compensation

- Strengthening instructional practices, quality measures and birth-to-age 8 coordination efforts

- Investing in the expansion of high-quality programs in underserved geographies

The funding will build upon key work already underway to improve the early learning infrastructure in Indiana. New state legislation championed by Gov. Eric J. Holcomb restructured and expanded Indiana's Early Learning Advisory Committee, and Gov. Holcomb also launched a new Office of Kindergarten Readiness within IDOE to work in partnership with OECOSL to ensure the early learning experiences children receive are effectively readying them for school. In September 2022, new early learning policy goals were established by ELAC to ensure Hoosier children, especially those most underserved, have access to early learning opportunities that prepare them with the skills required to thrive in kindergarten.

New Grant Enables Indiana Wesleyan University To Fund English Language Learners Licensure For Teachers

Indiana Wesleyan University-National & Global is excited to partner with the Indiana Teachers of English Language Learners (I-TELL) Project to provide a pathway for English Language Learners Licensure in the state of Indiana. Through a grant from I-Tell, current teachers can use I-TELL scholarships to English Language Learners Licensure at IWU for free. This partnership will eliminate the financial burden of ELL Licensure for Indiana teachers and help respond to the high demand for ELL teachers across the state.

"We're excited to see how this partnership with I-TELL increases opportunities for classroom teachers who want to deepen their teaching abilities and work closely with English language learners," says IWU Director of Academic Operations Tony Hembrock. "This grant will help us enable teachers across the state to achieve an affordable pathway to ELL Licensure."

IWU's English as a

New Language certificate program is designed for current teachers seeking licensure in the English Language Learners (EL) P-12 area. It can be completed 100% online in approximately 12 months. Candidates in the program will complete a 15-credit-hour program that is aligned to the TESOL Association's professional standards and the Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education's advanced-level program standards. They will engage in inquiry, research, dialogue, team learning, reflection, problem-based learning, collaboration and standards-based assessment from a comprehensive P-12 perspective.

Course instruction is designed to model best practices and procedures in the classroom, equipping teachers to help their students learn through culturally responsive teaching, ethics and faith and research and technology tools. Candidates will participate in field experiences to apply their knowledge on a practical level, ensuring complete understanding of course material.

Although the English as a New Language certificate program is designed for currently licensed teachers looking to add EL certification, IWU is also working to establish a Transition-to-Teaching program that will allow candidates seeking initial teacher licensure to become licensed as an English Language Learner Teacher.

About IWU
Indiana Wesleyan University celebrates 100 years as a Christian, global, comprehensive university providing liberal arts and professional education to approximately 10,000 students worldwide. IWU is one of the largest faith-based universities in America with rich undergraduate, graduate, master's, and doctoral programs in such highly acclaimed academic units as the School of Nursing, School of Physical and Applied Sciences, College of Adult and Professional Studies, and School of Arts and Humanities. An early leader in adult and online education, IWU is known for excellence in innovation. Students live and learn on the beautiful 350-acre IWU-Marion traditional campus and study through IWU-National & Global programs offered online and at education centers in Indiana, Kentucky, and Ohio. Wesleyan Seminary at Indiana Wesleyan University, founded by the Wesleyan Church denomination and IWU, prepares Christian leaders to engage in missional ministry locally and globally. Indiana Wesleyan University is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission (hlcommission.org), a regional accreditation agency recognized by the U.S. Department of Education. It is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. For more information, visit indwes.edu.

Part 2 Memories

This is Part Two of my look back at 2022 with appreciation for those people, places and things that made my column possible. So, thanks...

...to the cashier at Walmart who had been watching me as I jogged around the entire store several times to avoid the freezing weather and still get in my 15,000 steps. While running, I picked up a $10.00 pair of warm gloves, but she said my total was $14.89.

"What's the extra charge?" I asked.

"Mileage," she said. ...to the clerk at the dollar store who was at the register the day the prices went up to $1.25. I bought a balloon for a party I was going to, not aware of the price increase.

"Why are the balloons so high?" I asked.

"Because we put helium in them," she responded.

...to my sister who encouraged me to meditate to deal with my insomnia. "I do it every day," she said. "I feel like I am one with everything." That was good enough for me, because that's the way I order a hot dog at Costco.

...to Mary Ellen, who is critical of how I mow the lawn. One day she detailed all of the things I do wrong, like not keeping the rows straight and not properly mulching. After she finished, I told her I felt very emasculated. "That reminds me," she added, "I think the blades need sharpening."

...to whoever makes remote controls. You guys need to find a way to prevent them from disappearing just before people need them. I connected my remote to a long piece of dental floss and tied it to the leg of the couch. Now I not only find the device quickly, but I also have 27 percent less plaque between my teeth.

...to the tech guys at the cell phone store who laughed when I told them I once left my phone in the freezer after I tried to extricate a pint of ice cream that was stuck in there.

DICK WOLFSIE
Funny Bone

"Did the phone work when you found it?" asked the salesman.

"Yes," I said, "but the screen was frozen for two days."

...to the Prevacen people who make a supplement that supposedly improves your memory. Mary Ellen and I both took the pills for a few weeks. One night Mary Ellen was annoyed with me. "I am hurt because you once told me I was starting to look a little chubby in a bathing suit," she said.

"Wow, that was 40 years ago."

"I know, I just remembered." ...to me, for not realizing until the middle of some movies that I may have already viewed them. Recently my wife and I were watching Toy Story 3 and I was sure we hadn't seen it, since one of the characters didn't look familiar.

"You don't recognize Mr. Potato Head? He was also in Toy Story 2."

"Well, maybe he had a different nose."

And a final shout-out to the Hammacher Schlemmer gift catalog. My favorite item in this year's holiday edition is the Side Sleeper's Ergonomic Pillow: Ideal for someone who is sleeping with someone on the side. The pillow adjusts to your head and neck and provides support. Providing support is what you will have to do if you get caught.

can all take a hike.

5. Work...I hereby resolve to keep working as long as I am physically able. If I keel over dead at the library, I have instructed the library board to stuff me and bronze me...and stick me in the corner with the statue of Ben Franklin. If I retire from here, I will work for anyone who will hire an old geezer.

6. Politics...I hereby resolve to abandon all hope that Ol' Joe and the liberals will use any common sense, or that Republicans will move swiftly to accomplish anything significant. After all, their party symbols are a jackass and an elephant.

That pretty much says it all.

7. Phones...I hereby resolve to keep my "flip"

phone. No iPhone for me...I don't want 70-80 calls and texts every day. I can answer all calls with no worries. No one can get any information on my flip phone, and I love calling the fraudulent callers back...it's a blast!

8. TV watching...I hereby resolve to stick with only three shows... "Tales of Wells Fargo," "Gunsmoke," and the 10:30pm weather report on Fox 59. The "vast wasteland of TV," as one commentator said many years ago, is even worse today. I'll stick with a good book and my hobbies.

9. Lottery...I hereby resolve to win the Hoosier Lottery this year. I have been a good little boy. I deserve to win... so this is the year...I just know it...plus a message in a Panda Express fortune cookie said I was in for good luck. That is incontrovertible evidence.

10. Goals...I hereby resolve to work toward my lifelong goal...to become a major league baseball pitcher at age 74. If Satchel Paige can pitch at age 59, then there is still hope.... Right? As Satchel said, "Age is a question of mind over matter. If you don't mind it, it doesn't matter." I practice each fall by throwing hedge-apples across the road.

And oh yes...I forgot...I told my wife, after 56 years of marriage, that I would finally take her on a honeymoon vacation this year (our honeymoon was to the Payless grocery on our wedding night). I'm going to let her choose from several choice vacation spots...Smartsburg, Parkersburg, Becksville, or Bedbug Junction (near New Richmond). But if I win the lottery, I'll splurge and take her to Alamo, the birthplace of Charlie Bowerman, my childhood basketball hero, and we can also visit the house where Lawrence Reath had a general store on his front porch. I know she'll love it!

Well, that's my story and I'm stickin' to it. Have a great year!

DIABETES

payment are required see details below.

The educational programs and cooking school will help adults with type 2 diabetes control their blood sugar to feel better and reduce risk of health complication. Through this program you will learn how to prepare meals that are healthy and easy to prepare that taste good. You will get the opportunity to see several recipes demonstrated and taste each one. Participants of this program will learn up-to-date information on nutrition, meal planning, exercise and how to understand common diabetes-related medical tests. All participants will be given recipes and handouts.

Diabetes is a very serious and costly disease. According to the American Diabetes Association as of 2017, nearly 13% of Indiana's adult population has diabetes. Type 2 diabetes is the most common form of diabetes and is a life-long disease where there is high levels of sugar (glucose) in the blood. Type 2 Diabetes is often associated with older age, obesity, family history of diabetes, history of gestational diabetes, impaired glucose metabolism, physical inactivity and race/ethnicity. But research has shown that those who learn to manage their blood glucose (sugar) levels, eat a healthy diet and exercise regularly can lower their risks of complications and lead a healthier and more productive life.

Purdue Extension Montgomery County is currently recruiting participants for this program. If you have been diagnosed with type 2 diabetes, or know someone and are part of the support system for an individual and are interested in being a part of this program register by calling the extension office at 765-364-6363. Class's will be held at the Montgomery County Fairgrounds in the 4-H Building. For questions or help registering, please call Purdue Extension office at 765-364-6363 or e-mail Monica@purdue.edu.

Monica Nagele is the County Extension Director and educator of health and human science for the Montgomery County Purdue Extension.

further improve the quality of place and life for all residents and businesses.

"Brandy has contributed significantly in helping us create a vision for a thriving community," Barton said. "We co-authored Crawfordsville's winning Stellar Communities Plan and much of our success would not have been possible without her visionary leadership. I have the utmost confidence in Brandy, and elevating her to this position creates an incredibly strong team, further enhancing our ability to take Crawfordsville to the next level."

The new position has been expanded by combining the previous roles of director of operations and Allen's former position as director of planning and community development within the City's planning department. Allen will retain responsibility for community development from her previous position. Responsibility for overseeing the building department, permitting, and zoning regulations will remain in the City's planning department.

"I am so excited to continue to serve Crawfordsville in this new position," Allen said. "All I have ever wanted is to make Crawfordsville the best place to live, work, and raise a family. I am looking forward to continuing to dedicate my career to the City and assist Mayor Barton in helping our community reach its full potential in the years to come."

Allen graduated with honors from Ball State University with a Bachelor's Degree in Urban Planning and Development in 2006. She interned with the City's planning department in 2005 before graduating and was hired on as a staff planner for the City planning department in 2006. Allen is married to Mitch Allen, and they have two children - Hayden, 13, and Harper, 11.
