Twenty-years ago this spry Canadian gymnast, Bruce ■ Ives, started a birthday tradition of standing on his head to celebrate the occasion. He is 82 now and he's still at it, reports the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. In fact, the Guinness Book of World Records has declared him to be the oldest man on the planet to perform headstands, taking the title away from the previous record holder who was a mere 75. Says Ives, "In my 60s, when my grandchildren were around in my lawn in the summertime, I just gave it a shot to get them involved in gymnastics as well. It just grew from there -- it became a custom on my birthdays."

Butch's Family Station Wagon Goes Airborne

BUTCH DALE Columnist

When you first received your driver's license, did you do anything really stupid? Come on...admit it...you know you did. Like most of the boys in my class, I didn't have a car of my own, so on dates I drove the family car. Unfortunately it was a red and white 1963 Chevy station wagon, and it didn't even have a radio. The girls will really go for that...

The car was heavy, but it did have a 327 cubic inch V-8 in it, so it had some "get-up-andgo." I decided to see what the old gal would do one afternoon when returning home from baseball practice, and I actually got it up to 90 mph before coming to my senses. Yes, yes...I know. It was crazy and stupid and against the law. But

Donate Now To Keep Blood Stocked When Winter Weather Hits

As National Blood Donor Month continues this January, the American Red Cross celebrates those who give blood and platelets to help save lives • especially now, as we work to ensure a stable blood supply amid the threat of icy winter weather and severe seasonal illness. Donors of all blood types – particularly type O blood donors, the most needed blood group by hospitals – and platelet donors are needed daily to meet demand.

The start of the new year is one of the most challenging times to collect enough blood products, despite the constant demand. One in 7 patients entering a hospital will need a blood transfusion yet only 3% of the public gives blood.

Don't wait until there's a crisis to donate. To book a time to give blood, visit RedCrossBlood.org, download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, or call 1-800-RED CROSS.

In partnership with the National Football League (NFL), those who come to give blood, platelets or plasma through Jan. 31, 2023, will be automatically entered to win a trip for two to Super Bowl LVII in Arizona*, including access to dayof, in-stadium pre-game activities, tickets to the official Super Bowl Experience, round-trip airfare to Phoenix, three-night hotel accommodations (Feb. 10-13, 2023), plus a $500 gift card for expenses.

How to donate blood Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enable the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at checkin. Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, before arriving at the blood drive. To get started, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/ RapidPass or use the Blood Donor App.

Amplify your impact [volunteer!

Another way to support the lifesaving mission of the Red Cross is to become a volunteer blood donor ambassador at Red Cross blood drives. Blood donor ambassadors help greet, check-in and thank blood donors to ensure they have a positive donation experience.

Volunteers can also serve as transportation specialists, playing a vital role in ensuring lifesaving blood products are delivered to nearby hospitals. For more information and to apply for either position, visit redcross. org/volunteertoday.

Kenny On The Strength Of Big Ten Basketball Recruiting

My old colleague at the Lafayette Journal and Courier, Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame sportswriter Jeff Washburn, liked to say winning in college football and basketball is all about the "Jimmys and Joes, not the Xs and Os."

It's difficult to argue that premise. Just look at the familiar names that seem to make the College Football Playoff every year or are semi-annual participants in the NCAA Final Four in men's basketball.

But there are exceptions.

Purdue junior center Zach Edey, the presumptive favorite to be college basketball's national player of the year, was ranked 440th in the 2020 recruiting class by 247sports.com composite (an average of 247Sports, Rivals and ESPN ratings). Edey's success story, plus the old chestnut pulled out by national sportswriters and broadcasters that Purdue coach Matt Painter "does more with less" prompted an examination of each Big Ten Conference basketball starting lineup.

Do the teams at the top have more Top 100 recruits? Or are college basketball recruiting rankings as unreliable as political pundits who were sure "a red wave" was coming in the 2022 elections?

We'll look at each school based on the Big Ten standings as of Jan.

Purdue: Zach Edey (440th in 2020), Caleb Furst (65th, 2021), Ethan Morton (103rd, 2020), Fletcher Loyer (96th, 2022), Brandon Smith (198th, 2022)

Edey wasn't even the starting center at IMG Academy in Bradenton, Fla., where the Canadian native enrolled for his senior year. Future Duke star Mark Williams played ahead of Edey and later became a firstround draft pick by the Charlotte Hornets.

Furst, Indiana's 2020 Mr. Basketball, was

KENNY THOMPSON
Columnist

ranked second in Indiana behind future teammate Trey Kauffman-Renn (44th). Morton was Pennsylvania's Mr. Basketball in 2020. Smith earned Indiana Mr. Basketball honors over Loyer, who was Indiana's Gatorade Player of the Year and the national high school 3-point shooting champion.

Of note: Since 2000, only All-American forward Caleb Swanigan (19th) was ranked higher than Kauffman-Renn and Furst.

Rutgers: Cam Spencer (unranked, 2019), Caleb McConnell (344th, 2018), Clifford Omoruyi (51st, 2020), Mawot Mag (212th, 2020), Paul Mulcahy (156th, 2019)

Like Purdue, the Scarlet Knights aren't loaded with Top 100 prospects. Omoruyi is Rutgers' fourth-best recruit since 2000.

Michigan: Hunter Dickenson (43rd, 2020), Kobe Bufkin (46th, 2021), Jett Howard (43rd, 2022), Terrance Williams II (101st, 2020), Dug McDaniel (87th, 2022)

Had Dickenson selected Purdue instead of Michigan three years ago, would Zach Edey have prospered elsewhere? There's so much talent on the Wolverines' roster that their bench includes Tarris Reed (35th, 2022) and Isaiah Barnes (117th, 2021).

Illinois: Terrence Shannon Jr. (Texas Tech transfer, 90th in 2019), Coleman Hawkins (168th, 2020), Matthew Mayer (Baylor transfer, 93rd in 2018), R.J. Melendez (94th, 2021), Sencire Harris (113th, 2022)

Zach Ede

Shannon (17.6 ppg.) and Mayer (11.1) are the team's top scorers in their first seasons at Champaign. Point guard Skyy Clark, who recently left the Fighting Illini, was ranked 33rd in 2022. Bench players Ty Rodgers (59th, 2022) and Jayden Epps (72nd, 2022) are Top 100 recruits.

Wisconsin: Steven Crowl (235th, 2020), Chucky Hepburn (127th, 2021), Max Klesmit (Unranked, 2020), Tyler Wahl (204th, 2019), Jordan Davis (476th, 2020)

Now, this is an example of doing more with less. Crowl, Wahl and Hepburn are all averaging nearly 13 points a game for the Badgers.

Iowa: Kris Murray (333rd, 2020), Filip Rebraca (Unranked, 2018), Ahron Ulis (186th, 2020), Connor Mc-Caffery (152nd, 2017), Tony Perkins (314th, 2020)

Murray is another big miss by the recruiting experts, who had his brother Keegan ranked 334th. Keegan Murray was taken fourth in the 2022 NBA Draft by Sacramento, one slot ahead of Purdue's Jaden Ivey. The Hawkeyes' second-best player, Patrick McCaffery (86th in 2019), is taking a mental health break from basketball.

Michigan State: Joey Hauser (Marquette transfer, 52nd in 2018), Tyson Walker (484th, 2019), Jaden Akins (54th, 2021), A.J. Hoggard (81st, 2020), Mady

Sissoko (41st, 2020). Sissoko, rated nearly 400 slots higher than Edey, started but did not take a shot against Purdue this past Monda

Braden Smith

Starting forward Malik Hall, who missed the Purdue game with an injury, was rated 61st in 2019. He chose the Spartans over the Boilermakers.

Northwestern: Boo Buie (327th, 2019), Chase Audige (William & Mary transfer, unranked in 2018), Robbie Beran (110th, 2019), Ty Berry (153rd 2020), Matthew Nicholson (312th, 2020)

Audige and Buie would make an All-Big Ten underrated team, leading the Wildcats in scoring at 15.3 and 15.1 points per game, respectively.

Penn State: Jalen Pickett (Siena transfer, unranked, 2018), Seth Lundy (221st, 2019), Myles Dread (161st, 2018), Kebba Njie (118th, 2022), Andrew Funk (Bucknell transfer, unranked, 2018)

Averaging 17.7 points and 7.7 rebounds, Pickett is a contender for All-Big Ten honors. Otherwise, it's a testament to former Purdue assistant Micah Shrewsberry's coaching that the Nittany Lions are 12-6 overall.

Nebraska: Derrick Walker (Tennessee transfer, 270th in 2017), Juwan Gary (Alabama transfer, 93rd in 2019), Sam Griesel (North Dakota State transfer, unranked in 2018), Emmanuel Bandumel (SMU transfer, unranked in 2019), C.J. Wilcher (Xavier transfer, 113th in 2020).

Notice a trend? Even with today's loose transfer rules, how does a coach build chemistry with a lineup of newcomers?

Edey, started but did not take a shot against Purdue this past Monday.

Indiana: Trayce Jackson-Davis (30th, 2019), Race Thompson (134th, 2017), Xavier Johnson (Pitt transfer, 236th in 2018), Miller Kopp (Northwestern transfer, 114th, 2018), Jalen Hood-Schifino (23rd, 2022)

Mike Woodson is the midseason favorite for getting the least out of the most talent, even with Johnson and Thompson out of the lineup with injuries. Replacements Jordan Geronimo (105th, 2020) and Trey Galloway (157th, 2020) are solid players.

Reserves Malik Reneau and Tamar Bates were ranked 30th in the 2022 and 2021 recruiting classes, respectively. Seldom-used Logan Dunscomb was 73rd in 2021.

Maryland: Jahmir Young (Charlotte transfer, 235th in 2019), Hakim Hart (467th, 2019), Donta Scott (145th, 2019), Don Carey (Georgetown transfer, unranked in 2019), Julian Reese (60th, 2021)

It's not too surprising the Terrapins are in the lower half of the Big Ten.

Ohio State: Brice Sensabaugh (65th, 2022), Justice Sueing (California transfer, 171st in 2017), Bruce Thornton (51st, 2022), Sean McNeill (Sinclair Community College transfer, 24th in 2019), Zed Key (155th, 2020)

The Buckeyes may be struggling right now but Sensabaugh (16.9 ppg.) and Thornton (9.6 ppg.) could rank among the Big Ten's best backcourts in 2023-24.

Minnesota: Jamison Battle (George Washington transfer, unranked in 2019), Dawson Garcia (Marquette transfer, 37th in 2020), Ta'lon Cooper (Morehead State transfer, unranked in 2019), Joshua Ola-Joseph (223rd, 2022), Taurus Samuels (Dartmouth transfer, 405th in 2018)

There's a reason why the Gophers are the Big Ten's only team with a sub-.500 record. Garcia has lived up to his reputation (15.6 ppg., 6.6 reb.) but Minnesota has struggled to play as a team.

By the numbers A victory at Minnesota on Thursday night would give Purdue an 18-1 record, the best start in school history.

A secret to that successful start is making 294 free throws this season, 168 more than opponents. ...

The 64-63 victory at Michigan State gave Matt Painter 200 Big Ten wins, making him the third Purdue coach to reach that milestone and the seventh overall. Gene Keady won 256 conference games, and Piggy Lambert claimed 228.

Bob Knight tops the list with 353 Big Ten victories at Indiana. Tom Izzo has 326 and counting at Michigan State. Indiana's Branch Mc-Cracken won 216 games, two more than Lou Henson at Illinois. ...

Much to Izzo's chagrin after Monday's loss, Purdue center Zach Edey continues to have more blocked shots (37) than personal fouls (27). ...

Keep this in mind on Selection Sunday: Purdue is the only team with seven quad-1 victories. Five came against teams ranked in the NCAA Net's top 30 (Gonzaga, Ohio State, West Virginia, Marquette, Duke). Six of the wins have come away from Mackey Arena, with Marquette the lone home victory.

Fletcher Loyer was chosen the Big Ten's Player and Freshman of the Week on Tuesday, becoming the first Purdue freshman since Robbie Hummel in February 2008 to win Player of the Week honors. Loyer also matched the school record with his third Freshman of the Week award, a mark shared by Vince Edwards and Caleb Swanigan.

Proposals Limiting Right To Bail, Home Detention Advance To Senate Chamber

By Leslie Bonilla Muñiz

Indiana lawmakers went tough on crime Tuesday when a committee advanced a constitutional change restricting the right to bail and moved a less controversial bill barring people with more severe convictions from participating in community corrections programs.

Under Indiana's current Constitution, only people accused of murder or treason can't get bail, as long as "the proof is evident, or the presumption strong." Sen. Eric Koch's Senate Joint Resolution 1 would edit that document to let judges deny bail anyone they deem "a substantial risk to the public," and at the same standard of proof.

Prosecutors have said SJR 1 would keep dangerous people off the streets before trial, while critics say it's too vague and subjective to protect those presumed innocent until convicted.

On Tuesday, Democrat Sen. Greg Taylor, of Indianapolis, argued the burden of proof should be more stringent — with evident proof and strong presumption being on the lower end of the scale — while supporters like Sen. Liz Brown, R-Ft. Wayne, said that's the standard already enshrined within the Constitution.

Opposition Indiana Public Defender Council Executive Director Bernice Corley and attorney Mike Cunningham told lawmakers that SJR 1 should better define what the "substantial risk" is, pointedly giving examples like communicable disease versus emotional distress or physical danger.

Corley also argued that states with similar bail-limiting language on the books typically have presumptive release, when incarcerated people are by default released when they're first eligible for parole — unless a parole board finds specific reasons not to release them.

"There's two sides of this coin, always," she said about the right to bail. And she warned that passing SJR 1 could "upheave" Indiana's case law.

Courtney Curtis, the Indiana Prosecuting Attorneys Council assistant executive director, said "adding a couple of words" would not require the state to start over.

She described a spectrum with the rights of defendants and public safety on either end, adding that states are "trying to find where's that happy medium."

Koch, meanwhile, said there are already built-in checks on the right to bail: defendants can appeal bail decisions, and can seek review from higher courts.

The nine-member Senate Corrections and Criminal Law Committee approved SJR 1 with a 5-3 vote, sending it to the full Senate Chamber. It nearly passed along party lines: the group's two Democrats voted against it, but so did Ranking Majority Member Susan Glick, R-LaGrange.

"I believe the language in this resolution should be void for vagueness," Glick said.

"... What we're attempting to do is keep the very most danger-ous individuals in jail indefinitely. I understand that," Glick continued. "But I believe that the language here will allow it to be applied to a lot of other people for a lot of other reasons."

Koch's planning to keep SJR 1's wording the same, for now.

"I'm a listener. I try to keep an open mind. I thought the discussion today was was very helpful," Koch told the Capital Chronicle after the committee adjourned. "But as of now, I have no plans to change it. But, this is just the beginning of what is, and should be, a long process."

Serving a sentence out at home

The committee also unanimously advanced an amended bill altering community corrections programming, which is meant to divert felony convicts from incarceration and serve as an intermediate level of penalty between jail and probation, according to the Indiana Department of Correction.

Programming includes residential centers, work release, home detention and electronic monitoring.

Senate Bill 179 — also authored by Koch — would bar people convicted of level one felonies from participating in the programs, as well as those with certain extra penalties on their convictions.

But it would expand the program as an alternative to county jail, rather than just to the Department of Correction, and allow people on work release to earn accrued time just like those in home detention.

Though the prosecutors and defenders judicial agencies are typically on opposite ends of criminal justice bills, Koch said both groups had workshopped the bill and supported it.

An amendment, which wasn't available online, would crack down on home detention escape without also ratcheting up consequences for smaller violations, committee chair Aaron Freeman, R-Indianapolis, said.

DICK WOLFSIE Funny Bone

My wife read some troubling information the other day in one of her monthly magazines. You might think the source of this bad news would be a publication like Prevention, where every page is full of things you should not be full of, like red meat, trans fat chips, cakes and pies, and sugary soft drinks. Next thing you know they'll be telling us to lay off cheese. Or did I miss that issue?

No, this time the messenger was Consumer Reports. I have mixed feelings when reading this publication. As a result of our subscription, Mary Ellen and I have over the years apparently purchased a lemon of a car, an energy inefficient freezer, unsafe snow tires, and a dangerous snowblower.

At the back of the magazine, they tell readers what items they are presently testing in their labs. So, there's a good chance we also bought the wrong toaster, mattress, sunscreen, meat thermometer, and insect repellants. This past month they were rating blood pressure monitors, which you really need when reading one of their reports.

We have also learned that we probably wasted lots of money buying useless vitamins and even many organic food options. I have trouble sleeping at night because CR rated my pillow choice very low-lower even than MyPillow. I bought a MyPillow years ago, but I returned it. I emailed the owner and told him that sleeping with my head on his product made me lean to the left.

So, what did CR report on that upset my wife? Mary Ellen is a chocolate lover, and the darker the better. Well, things could not have gotten any darker than last week when the new CR landed in our mailbox, just minutes before she tossed it in our recycle bin. Here's the feature article's headline:

Some Trader Joe's dark chocolate has dangerous levels of lead and cadmium

Say it ain't so, Joe! This is where Mary Ellen gets most of her chocolate. She will also occasionally pick up non-essentials like eggs, milk, bread, fresh fruits and vegetables.

For years my wife's consumption of chocolate was based not only on flavor, but on reports that chocolate was good for you—especially the dark variety, which is full of anti-oxidants.

True, it contains some caffeine, but if you can't sleep, what better way to stay awake than scarfing down a candy bar?

CR tested 28 dark chocolate bars at Trader Joe's. For 23 of the bars, eating just an ounce a day puts someone over a level that CR's experts say may be harmful. Well, there goes Halloween. Scary, huh?

Mary Ellen was curious to know whether the CR folks also had to taste the candy, and if so, were there any openings available for jobs like that?

Truth is, my wife is very health conscious, so she is now cutting down on her chocolate consumption. She asked if I would be willing to make some similar sacrifices, based on past CR reports. I am proud to announce that last Tuesday was the last vitamin pill I will ever take.

6 Things To Consider Doing If You Can't Pay Rent This Month

(StatePoint) The average national rent surpassed $2,000 for the first time ever in 2022, which has made keeping up with rent payments challenging for millions of people across the United States. In fact, a recent Freddie Mac survey found that 70% of renters are concerned about making their rent payment in the short term.

If you're among those struggling to pay rent, there is good news: many resources exist to help renters remain in their homes.

Here are six actions you can take to help keep you in your rental:

1. Contact Your Landlord. If you know you will be unable to pay your rent, contact your landlord in writing to explain your situation. Your landlord may be able to offer you such options as changing the date rent is due each month, lowering rent payments or creating a repayment plan.

2. Consider More Affordable Apartments. Finding a less expensive apartment may be the right solution if you anticipate having regular trouble paying your rent. However, with rents on the rise everywhere, this can be a challenge. As you start your search, remember to factor in the fees and moving expenses you might incur. Moving within your building or to another property managed by the same company may be one way to avoid onboarding fees.

3. Find a Roommate. If you have the space, taking on a roommate can significantly reduce your monthly rent and utility expenses. Make sure to follow the terms of your lease when adding a roommate to any apartment. This could include having them sign a formal lease.

5. Understand Eviction Protections. Be aware of the eviction protections you're eligible for should you be unable to pay rent. The CFPB has a list of states with protections in place that prevent landlords from evicting renters for fail-

There are many nonprofit Renter Resource Organizations throughout the country that can assist you if you are facing a housing-related challenge. These entities provide services and resources to help you maintain housing, including eviction prevention and landlord-tenant mediation. They also can assist you in locating alternative housing and provide financial planning advice. Services offered may vary by provider. how many of you have done the same thing? I never drove that fast again, except for one other time, and here's the

One evening, I headed up north to Clarks Hill country to meet some cute gal (who would later become my wife) to take her out on a date. I told my folks I would be home no later than 1:00 am. After going to a movie and eating out, we ended up back at her house, watching TV and then listening to 78 rpm records, specifically the Rolling Stones and the Beatles, and then the Mamas and Papas. Do you remember the song "California Dreamin'"? Well, that's how it ended up. We fell asleep on her parents' couch...dreamin', and I woke up at 3:00 am. Not good!

Time to head the red and white family truckster on its way back south to Darlington. When I turned off County Road 1000 North onto County Road 700 East (the Darlington-Stockwell blacktop), I put my foot to the pedal and gave her all she could take. Going through the iron bridge at 80 mph near Reid Paddack's house was quite a thrill, and I stayed on it, reaching 100 mph, before I backed off to 90 mph just before the top of the steep hill at County Road 750 North. As I topped the hill, the red and white station wagon, which then must have assumed it was a dragster, went airborne. Yep, all four wheels left the ground. The top of my head hit the headliner. Ol' Betsy went off the road and into the ditch, traveling several yards on its two right side wheels. I don't understand to this day what kept that old car from rolling over and wrecking. When I came to a stop, I was in a cold sweat. My heart was pounding. I glanced at myself in the mirror. My face was as white as a ghost. I just sat there and realized how stupid...and how lucky...I had been.

I drove slowly all the rest of the way home, and when I entered our lane, I turned off the headlights...and then halfway up...turned off the ignition and coasted up to the house. I sure didn't want my folks to wake up, so I climbed up on the roof, and crawled in through my upstairs bedroom window. My younger brother never heard a peep. I had made it back safe and sound.

No one will ever know...

..until 7:30 am....my Dad shaking me, "Get your clothes on and get down here...NOW!" Still half asleep, I stumbled outside, where he had the hood of the car up and was staring at the engine compartment. "How did that battery get down there?" he inquired with a discerning look on his not-too-happy face. The battery had come dislodged from its stand and was wedged in between the engine and the fender well. I was speechless, but uttered out, "Gosh, Dad, I have no idea. Maybe I hit a chuckhole or something." Dad replied, "Well, it must have been one hell of a chuckhole. Get a wrench and put it back where it belongs." Thank God... no more questions. I felt guilty for not telling the truth.

You know...teenagers do some really idiotic things. That was just one of the stupid things I did...I could list many more. When my four kids were teenagers, they had a few brainless adventures, too. When I had to discipline them, I always tried to remember my teenage years. And when I was a deputy sheriff and then county sheriff, I tried to give kids a break when possible, unless the situation was very serious and warranted the proper action. Sometimes we all have to learn the hard way. On that summer night, after I went airborne over that hill, I learned my lesson... to tell the truth...and never drive 90 mph over a steep hill...in a red and white station wagon. And that damn car didn't even have a radio!

To expand their reach, the Montgomery County 4-H team recently held a statewide training to train more teens from across the state. Teams are tasked with identify community needs in regards to digital literacy and inclusion and provide educational programming to adults to help address those needs. At this training there were 7 youth and 3 adults in attendance, representing Lake, Jefferson, and Marion Counties. Participants created a community profile and gained hands-on experience in delivering educational programming.
