➔ THREE THINGS You Should Know:

1 The open Grief Support Group continues to meet on the first and third Thursday of each month. The next meeting is Thursday, May 4 at 7 p.m. at Gobin Memorial United Methodist Church in the Peace Chapel on the north side of the Sanctuary. Please register at www.dusk-to-dawn.org or call (765) 267-1760. The group meets again on May 18 at 7 p.m. Celebrating its 10th anniversary as a non-profit association, the organization helps alleviate the suffering associated with loss and grief by providing free access to support, counseling, education and resources for anyone in need. These services are made possible through community donations and grants such as the one awarded by the Putnam County Community Foundation.

2 Flags in Noble County will be lowered to half-staff in honor and remembrance of Ligonier Mayor Patricia "Patty" Fisel. Fisel was serving her fourth term as Mayor when she passed away on Tuesday, April 25. Indiana Gov. Eric Holcomb said that flags there should be flown at half-staff from sunrise until sunset on Sunday.

3 The Department of the Interior today announced a $35 million investment in fiscal year 2023 funding from President Biden's Bipartisan Infrastructure Law for 39 projects in 22 states that will address outdated or obsolete dams, culverts, levees and other barriers fragmenting our nation's rivers and streams. Today's announcement is part of the Department's five-year $200 million commitment to restore free-flowing waters, allowing fish migration and protecting communities from flooding rivers and streams. It is also part of an over $3 billion investment in fish passage and aquatic connectivity projects under the Investing in America agenda, which includes funding from the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law and Inflation Reduction Act.

Ask Rusty - About Social Security Benefits For My Minor Children

Dear Rusty: I will be 62 in 2024 and am considering starting benefits at that time. I will have two children under the age of 18. One of them will be 10 and the other 15. Will they be able to draw benefits in addition to my benefits? Signed: Father of Two

ASK Rusty
Social Security Advisor

Social Security Matters

This article is intended for information purposes only and does not represent legal or financial guidance. It presents the opinions and interpretations of the AMAC Foundation's staff, trained and accredited by the National Social Security Association (NSSA). NSSA and the AMAC Foundation and its staff are not affiliated with or endorsed by the Social Security Administration or any other governmental entity. To submit a question, visit our website (amacfoundation.org/programs/social-security-advisory) or email us at ssadvisor@amacfoundation.org.

Dear Father of Two: Yes, if you claim your Social Security retirement benefits at 62, your minor children will be able to get benefits from you until they are 18 years old (or up to 19 if still in high school). You will likely be designated as Representative Payee for those benefits and will be obligated to use them only for your children's behalf (which could include simply saving the money for their future). But there's more to consider.

Normally, a minor child is eligible for 50% of the parent's full retirement age (FRA) entitlement (even if you claim at 62), but Social Security's Family Maximum will likely restrict each child's benefit to make it less than 50%. Then, once the 15 year old ages-out of eligibility at 18 (or 19), the younger child's benefit will increase to the full 50% of your FRA amount. That is - unless you are married and your wife will also be collecting a spousal benefit on your record. In that case the Family Maximum will limit payments for all of the dependents receiving payments based on your SS record (both your children and your wife).

Generally, the Family Maximum is between 150% and 188% of your FRA entitlement, from which your own FRA entitlement is subtracted, leaving 50% to 88% of the Family Maximum for your dependents.

It's important to remember that by claiming your own SS retirement benefit at age 62 your monthly payment will be cut by 30% (you'll get 70% of your FRA entitlement), and that is a permanent reduction. So, you may wish to evaluate whether the money your children will get until they are 18 will offset the lifetime reduction to your own benefit payment. Your life expectancy is important when making that decision, and if you wish to estimate your potential longevity I suggest using this tool: <https://socialsecurityreport.org/tools/life-expectancy-calculator/>.

It's also important to remember that claiming benefits before your full retirement age will mean that, if you work, you'll be subject to Social Security's "earnings test" which limits how much you can earn before some of your benefits are taken away. The earnings limit changes annually (it's $21,240 for 2023) and, if the limit is exceeded, SS will withhold $1 in benefits for every $2 you are over the limit. They will withhold future benefits to recover anything you owe for exceeding the earnings limit and, if your benefits are withheld for this reason, your dependents' benefits will also be withheld for those same months. So, your plans for working should be weighed carefully in deciding whether to claim your Social Security benefits early.

To summarize: If you won't work full time after age 62 and you're comfortable with 70% of your FRA benefit entitlement for the rest of your life, then claiming at 62 will also entitle your children (and possibly your wife) to dependent benefits (restricted by the Family Maximum). But, if you continue to work full time, Social Security's earnings test will likely mean neither you nor your dependents can receive full Social Security benefits at this time. And for clarity, the earnings limit no longer applies after you reach your full retirement age.

Talk-Radio Host Larry Elder Seeks The GOP Nomination For The 2024 Presidential Elections; Says The Left Argues 'That America Is Systemically Racist'

By John Grimaldi

Larry Elder is a black conservative talk-radio personality who just days ago announced that he is running for the Republican presidential nomination in 2024. Shortly after his announcement he joined Rebecca Weber, CEO of the Association of Mature American Citizens and host of AMAC's Better For America podcast, for an interview.

Why is he throwing his hat in the ring? The popular host of the Larry Elder Show told Weber that among his reasons is the fact that "Democrats love to dip that knife in the mustard jar of racism and spread it over every issue that they can, arguing that America is systemically racist. And the reason they do that is because they want black people to be angry over alleged social injustice and a lack of equity so that voters go in there like lemmings and pull that lever 90, 95 percent of the time for the Democratic Party ... If the Democrats don't succeed in getting black people to vote in a monolith like that, they cannot win the presidential election, which is why they do that all the time."

Know The Early Warning Signs Of COPD

(StatePoint) Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) is a long-term lung disease that makes it hard to breathe. A leading cause of disability and death in the United States, more than 12.5 million people have been diagnosed, and millions more may have the disease without even knowing it. While there is no cure, knowing COPD's early warning signs can lead to earlier treatment and may prevent its progression.

The American Lung Association, funded with support from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, is sharing the following insights to help Americans recognize

C'ville Woman Promoted With INDOT

The Indiana Department of Transportation announced this week that Crawfordsville's Debbie Calder has been promoted to the role of INDOT's District Deputy Commissioner of Crawfordsville.

"Debbie brings with her an excitement for the work we do within the agency and is looking forward to cultivating and maintaining great relationships while leading the Crawfordsville District," J.D. Brooks, Deputy Commissioner of Operations said in an announcement.

Calder, who begins her new job Monday, has been with INDOT for 17 years and has held the roles of Media Relations Director, Communications Director and most recently Director of Stakeholder Services. She has a Bachelor of Arts degree in mass communications from Purdue University. When not at work, she enjoys spending time with her husband Bill of 36 years and their sons and daughter-in-law and three grandchildren. She enjoys watching sports, especially Purdue basketball.

OBITUARIES

Chester Allen "Al" McNew

December 11, 1951, Saturday, April 22, 2023

Chester Allen "Al" McNew, age 71, of Ladoga, passed away on Saturday, April 22, 2023 at his home. He was born in Sullivan, Missouri on December 11, 1951 to the late Chester Louis and Sarah Elizabeth (Barnes) McNew.

Al graduated from North Knox High School in 1970 and proudly served his country in the United States Air Force. He graduated from Ball State University with a degree in Architectural Design. Al spent his life working and was a dedicated worker. He was a 32nd degree Shriner.

Al enjoyed spending time outdoors and traveling. He loved skydiving and earned his Diamond Wings for completing over 1,000 jumps. Al was even able to complete a jump over the Artic Circle. Al or "Big Al", as he was known to many, was an ornery old man. He was a wonderful person to everybody. He loved people and spending time with his family. His favorite passion was giving people a hard time and he was good at it. The stories he told were one in a million.

He is survived by his wife of 38 years, Terry Lee Goodsen McNew; his daughter, Rita Elizabeth McNew; brother, Vic Ray McNew; sister, Sharon Hagmeier; two grandchildren, Myla Rayne Lavender and Hazel Leeann Englert; and nieces and nephew, Kim Robbins and Allen Ray McNew.

He was preceded in death by his parents. Cremation was chosen with a Celebration of Life held at a later date.

State Cracks Down on Sex Offenders

The Attorney General's office won a federal appeals case this week that will help protect Hoosiers from dangerous predators who have committed sex crimes.

On Thursday, the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected a constitutional challenge to Indiana's Sex Offender Registration Act (SORA).

"We're talking about a law that not only is clearly constitutional but also vital to public safety," Attorney General Todd Rokita said. "Few priorities are more pressing than protecting women, children and all Hoosiers from sex predators. The court has affirmed the validity of a law rooted in basic common sense and prudent policy-making."

Under SORA, sex offenders who have been required to register in another jurisdiction and who live, work or study in Indiana must register as sex offenders. SORA also imposes other public safety requirements to protect children from particularly dangerous predators.

The Seventh Circuit's decision prevents the sex offenders who challenged SORA from evading its requirements.

Rokita thanked his staff for their diligent work on this case — including Deputy Solicitor General James Barta, who presented the state's oral argument.

"We're pleased that the court recognized Indiana has a legitimate interest in registering as many sex offenders as it can," Barta said. "This decision will help state officials protect the public."

In addition, he said, he brings to the table something that we don't talk enough about, namely "the number one social problem facing America caused by the large number of children who enter the world without a father in the home. These days, 40% of all American kids come into the world without a father in the home, 70% of black kids, 50% of Hispanic kids and 25% of white kids which, by the way, is the same percentage as was the case among blacks back in 1965. Since 65, we launched a so-called war on poverty and have spent over $20 trillion. What we've done is incentivize women to marry the government and incentivize men to abandon their financial responsibility. Barack Obama once said, in one of his more candid moments, a kid raised without a father is far more likely to be poor and commit crime, nine times more likely to drop out of school and 20 times more likely to end up in jail. We do not talk enough about this."

Elder, who ran for Governor of California in 2021, pointed out that homelessness has reached epidemic proportions in that state. "Most of the people who are homeless are people who are on substances or are mentally ill. The issue is mental health. And the question is, what do we do about it? We need to have therapy. We need to have the availability of counseling for people and they need to get off the streets. One of the things that's happened in California is that citizens with the best of intentions under the guise of judicial reform passed something called Proposition 47. What cops have told me and what the former sheriff of L.A. County told me is that the solution is you either get them off the streets and put them into rehab or send them to jail."

But, Elder noted, Proposition 47 prohibits that approach with the result that police can no longer threaten to put somebody in jail and so homelessness has increased dramatically. "We need to make counseling available, housing available. But once we've done that, people must get off the streets. I've been told that every homeless woman has been raped at least one time." To say the least, living that way "is unhygienic for them and for the people who live in those communities who have to walk by them, including kids going to and from school. It's a huge, huge problem that we have in our country regarding mental illness."

the warning signs of COPD and take action:

Early Warning Signs of COPD

Not everyone has the same COPD symptoms, but some of the more common early warning signs and symptoms may include shortness of breath, a cough that may bring up mucus or phlegm, chest tightness, fatigue and reoccurring lung infections. People may think these symptoms are because of aging, smoking or being out of shape and become less active to avoid experiencing them. These signs and symptoms shouldn't be ignored. Speak with your healthcare provider if you experience any of these symptoms and discuss any activities you are avoiding due to breathing difficulties.

Risk Factors and Diagnosis

Anyone can develop COPD, but people aged 40 or older and those who smoke or used to smoke are at higher risk. Cigarette smoking is the leading cause of COPD, however 1 in 4 people with COPD never smoked cigarettes. Secondhand smoke, air pollution, workplace exposures to dust, fumes and chemicals, and a genetic condition called alpha-1 antitrypsin deficiency (AATD) are also causes and risk factors for COPD.

People are often diagnosed at later stages of COPD when the disease has progressed because they delayed sharing their early symptoms with their healthcare provider. Everyone with risk factors and those experiencing early warning signs should talk to their healthcare provider about any breathing issues. It's especially important for women to do so. Because COPD has been historically thought of as a "man's disease" or an "old person's disease," women are sometimes misdiagnosed or receive a delayed diagnosis. But overall, more women are affected by COPD than men and the death rate is higher in women. In addition, women tend to develop the disease at a younger age.

To diagnose COPD, the healthcare provider will evaluate symptoms, gather a complete health history, conduct a health exam and perform a pulmonary function test called spirometry. The results of the spirometry test can determine if you have COPD.

Lifestyle Changes

In addition to treatment, certain lifestyle changes may make a difference, as patients living with COPD know firsthand. After being diagnosed with stage 2 COPD in the wake of a COVID-19 infection, Bob F. partnered with his doctor and started monitoring his breathing at home and leaned into exercise. His hard work has paid off, with his last pulmonary function test showing that the disease has not progressed, and he is in better overall shape than before.

"Most of the advice you should follow is no different than what doctors tell us all. Eat right, exercise, sleep, drink plenty of water, manage your weight and don't smoke. If you do these things, you may slow the progression of your COPD," says Bob.

But you shouldn't wait until a COPD diagnosis to make these changes. Lifestyle changes like quitting smoking, avoiding secondhand smoke and reducing your exposure to air pollution may reduce your risk for developing COPD. If you are experiencing shortness of breath or other respiratory symptoms, do not delay talking to your healthcare provider about your symptoms or COPD risk factors.
