Matthew 11:28 - 30 Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light.

➔ THREE THINGS You Should Know:

1 Former Republican Jennifer McCormick has thrown her hat in the ring for the 2024 gubernatorial race - as a Democrat. Her decision sparked some outrage from Indiana Republican Party Chairman Kyle Hupfer. "We would like to officially welcome Democrat Jennifer McCormick to the 2024 gubernatorial race and presume that she is seeking the Democrat nomination. With her campaign launch today, Democrat Jennifer McCormick has decided to continue her well-known streak of misleading Hoosiers. But they have come to know that's just who she is - someone who will say or do anything to get elected. But Hoosiers also know this - Democrat Jennifer McCormick believes that teachers and administrators know what's best for our children and that parents should have no say in what happens in our schools. Hoosiers have rejected that position, and they will reject her too."

2 Senator Todd Young (R-Ind.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, delivered remarks during an event on Wednesday hosted by the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) and the Indiana University Public Policy Institute focused on enhancing the regional impact of the CHIPS and Science Act. Young helped author the legislation, which was signed into law last year. "The CHIPS and Science Act will help connect more of our citizens to, broadly speaking, this innovation economy, not just in the semiconductor field. And as most of you know, the law is already jumpstarting semiconductor production here in the United States, including in the industrial Midwest," said Young, during the event.

3 As part of National Small Business Week, the Internal Revenue Service wants small business taxpayers to know they will soon see changes to help them better interact with the Internal Revenue Service in ways that work best for them. New improvements to phone service, in-person and online options will allow small business taxpayers get the help they need when they need it.

Ask Rusty - Should Octogenarians Tell Social Security They Married?

Dear Rusty: We were married two years ago at age 78 and 81. Do we need to do anything with Social Security? Signed: Blissfully Happy

Dear Blissfully Happy: Congratulations on your fairly recent marriage and, yes, there are some things you should do. Specifically, you should contact Social Security to inform them of your marriage, see whether any additional benefits are available, and to make any changes needed to your contact information. Here are some things to consider:

- If a name change has occurred for one of you, that person should contact Social Security to report the change. A copy of your marriage certificate (and other ID) will be required, and a new Social Security card will be issued.
- If a change of address has also occurred for one or both of you, that must be reported. It's important that Social Security has the correct mailing address, email, and contact phone number for every beneficiary.
- If there are any other changes to the contact information on file with the Social Security Administration for either of you (e.g., your banking information), the affected person should inform Social Security of the changes needed.
- Social Security will evaluate ate whether any benefit increase is available as a result of your marriage, which may be the case if one of you is entitled to a "spousal boost" (an additional amount from the other now that you're married). A spousal boost may be available if one has a monthly Social Security payment which is more than twice the other's benefit. Social Security can answer that question for you when you call.

You can contact either your local Social Security office (find the number at www.ssa.gov/locator) or call the national number at 1.800.772.1213 and tell them you need to inform them of your marriage and update your contact information. If you have (or if you create) an online "my Social Security" account at www.ssa.gov/myaccount, you can initiate changes to your contact information online, but you will need to call Social Security directly via phone to record your marriage and see if any changes to monthly benefits are available. All of this can likely be done without requiring a visit to your local SS office.

It is very important that Social Security be made aware of your new marital status and to ensure that they have the correct contact information for both of you. Even if the contact information is unchanged for one of you, the other should contact Social Security as described above to update their contact information and to determine if any changes to monthly benefits are appropriate as a result of your marriage. Doing so now will avoid future issues and will make sure you are both getting the correct monthly Social Security payments as a married couple. And if one of you is entitled to a higher spousal amount, you should ask for the increase to be applied retroactively (SS will pay up to 6 months retroactively). I suggest you call Social Security as soon as possible to inform them of your marriage and make any necessary changes to your contact information.

The Biden Administration Wages A "Concentrated Regulatory And Legislative Assault On The Oil And Gas Industry," Says Tim Stewart

By John Grimaldi
Tim Stewart, president of the U.S. Oil and Gas Association, says it wasn't long ago that America had "global dominance" of the world's energy economy. As he explained it in an interview with Rebecca Weber, CEO of the Association of Mature American Citizens, on her Better For America podcast, up until January 2021, when Joe Biden became president, "the United States was the producer to which OPEC and the other oil and gas producers in the world responded ... now we're walking around, shaking a tin cup [and asking] the Saudis to please give us a little bit more oil."
America's expertise, when it comes to energy production, has been undermined. The administration has replaced professionals "who have oil and gas experience in their portfolios with think-tank activists. And that's why you see this headlong rush into an unproven energy policy which will ultimately cost everybody a lot more money." Stewart pointed out that the Biden administration wasted no time in canceling the Keystone XL pipeline and suspending leases. "And now they're coming down into our personal lives and saying, you can do this and you can't do that. And it's a frightening direction in which we're going right now."

He went on to explain that the administration has triggered

2023 Golden Hoosier Award

Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch, in collaboration with the Indiana Family and Social Services Administration's Division of Aging, announced today that nominations are now being accepted for the 2023 Golden Hoosier Award.
This is the 16th year for the program.
"Our state is filled with generous Hoosiers who are constantly giving back to their neighborhoods and communities," said Lt. Gov. Crouch, Indiana's Secretary of Agriculture and Rural Development. "The Golden Hoosier Award is an amazing opportunity to honor those who have dedicated their lives to serving Indiana communities."
The award began in 2008 and annually honors senior Hoosiers for their lifetime of service and commitment to their communi-

Local Bands Selected For 500 Festival Parade
With the 107th Running of the Indianapolis

500 quickly approaching, two local bands have been selected to perform during this year's AES 500 Festival Parade in downtown Indianapolis on Saturday, May 27.

The Montgomery County United Band and Guard will participate in the parade for the first time.

The band includes students from Crawfordsville, North Montgomery and Southmont high schools in Montgomery County.

The Purdue All-American Marching Band will also be back at the Speedway, as it has each year for over a century, as well as the parade, as it has since its inception in 1957.

Congratulations to the students from Montgomery County for this high honor, and to Purdue for being a part of Indiana's race history for so many years. I am proud to have District 23 so well represented.

INDOT Update Across Senate District 23

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) recently announced lane restrictions along a portion of U.S. 36 in Parke County for bridgework between East Old 36 Road and North 1050 East.

These restrictions are expected to start Wednesday, May 17 and last through the end of May and traffic will be controlled using temporary signals.

A portion of State Road 234 in Cayuga in Vermillion County will be closed between 2nd and Patterson streets as early as Monday, May 15, for railroad work.

This project is expected to be complete by Thursday, May 18.

Mental Health Awareness Month

May is Mental Health Awareness Month, and it is important for all of us to know what resources are available to Hoosiers in a time of crisis.

The National Suicide & Crisis Lifeline is available by dialing 9-8-8 where a caller can speak with a trained crisis specialist.

BeWellIndiana is a free resource to call if an individual is feeling stressed, anxious, overwhelmed or alone. Just simply call 2-1-1 to be connected to a crisis counselor.

In addition, we passed a new state budget this session that allocates an additional $170 million for mental health resources.

Part of that funding will go toward a Senate Republican priority to lay the groundwork for expansion in the number of certified community behavioral health clinics throughout Indiana.

We also passed a law that allows law enforcement to transport individuals suffering from a mental health crisis, or temporary impairment from drugs or alcohol, to the nearest facility providing mental health treatment. The law also states that non-violent offenders could be eligible to take part in a voluntary mental health treatment program instead of jail as a condition of their pretrial release.

Mental health issues continue to be a growing concern throughout our nation, but I am hopeful the work we accomplished this session will be a strong step forward in ensuring folks who suffer from mental illness can get the help they need.

INDOT to host open houses for Statewide Transportation Improvement Program

The Indiana Department of Transportation will conduct eight in-person and two virtual open houses to give Hoosiers an opportunity to learn about the 2024-2028 Statewide Transportation Improvement Program.

The program is the state's five-year planning and construction document that will list projects that are expected to be funded during the period.

In-person open houses include:

- Marion Public Library, 600 S. Washington St., Marion, from 1 to 3 p.m. and 3:45 to 5:45 p.m. on Wednesday, May 17;

- Broad Ripple Park Family Center, 1426 Broad Ripple Ave., Indianapolis, from 1 to 3 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 18;

- Dean and Barbara White Community Center, 6600 Broadway, Merrillville, from 1 to 3 p.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. on Wednesday, May 24; and

- Evansville Public Library, 200 SE Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd., Evansville, from 1 to 3 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. on Wednesday, May 31.

The virtual presentations will take place from 1 to 3 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. on Thursday, June 1 via Microsoft Teams.

Providing Support for Mothers and their Babies

Thanks to a partnership between the Indiana Department of Health, the Indiana Family and Social Services Administration and the Indiana Department of Child Services, the My Healthy Baby program is now accessible to mothers and their babies in all 92 counties.

an invasive war that would outlaw fossil fuels such as natural gas. For example, San Francisco is bent on phasing out natural gas furnaces starting in 2027. "We don't have the infrastructure in place and it won't be in place for a long, long time," Stewart noted. He said that despite the fact that the powers that be seek to portray fossil fuel as the enemy, "the reality is natural gas is probably the best bridge fuel you'll ever get if you want to completely decarbonize."

Stewart pointed out, the "Ninth Circuit Court recently overturned Berkeley, California's ban on gas stove infrastructure. They said you can't do that. You don't have the authority to do that. Which is encouraging to me because, if you can win in Berkeley, in the Ninth Circuit, which is the most notoriously liberal court there is, we can win across the country."

Another liberal state, New York State, has also recently passed a statewide ban on natural gas and Stewart suggested that his association will get involved there as well. In fact, he said his Oil and Gas Association has established what he called, a 'Hands Off My Stove Initiative' as an option for people who don't work for our industry, but who want to figure out how to do something. We're gathering people from all across the country to help local groups fight these local initiatives. We'll team people up with them to keep the communists out of our kitchens.

"I have never in my 30 years seen a more concentrated regulatory and legislative assault on the oil and gas industry like we have seen in the last 18 months. The Biden administration, I think, really is to blame. There is significant overreach right up front. And in doing so, they bought this issue of energy poverty and they put it on their own shoulders. That is the biggest issue and we've been pushing back on them over and over and over again. If I'm a senior living on a fixed income, there are some things I can't control. Nor can I control the price of energy, and that is something that I have to have. And the administration has been very slow and frankly unresponsive and uncaring in terms of what their policies are actually creating. We're being squeezed by a regulatory regime, which is frightening."
