➤ THREE THINGS You Should Know:

1 The Indiana Department of Transportation announces restrictions on State Road 75 starting on or after Monday, August 21 for bridge work near Jamestown. Traffic will be down to one lane over West Fork Big Walnut Creek and controlled by temporary traffic signals. The restrictions will be between W. County Road 1025 N. and W. Co. Rd. 900 N. through mid-September, weather permitting. This contract was awarded to Rieth Riley Construction for $7.2 million. Crews will be performing a bridge deck overlay on S.R. 75 over Branch Ramp Run, an HMA Overlay between S.R. 234 and U.S. 136, and preventative maintenance from U.S. 36 to S.R. 234. The entire contract is expected to be completed in June of 2024. INDOT urges motorists to slow down, use caution, and consider worker safety when traveling through a work zone.

2 The Montgomery County Relay for Life is dedicated to helping communities attack cancer. Through funds donated, time given, or awareness raised, communities are teaming up to make a difference. The annual event is scheduled for Sept. 16, from 12 pm - 8 pm in Crawfordsville. You can participate by forming a team, raising money and celebrating at the event while honoring survivors and remembering lives touched by purchasing a luminaria. Please help spread the word to help them grow the success of this event! Click the button to visit the website to register a team and for more information.

3 The 3rd annual Midwest Railroad Fair, presented by the Linden Depot Museum, is scheduled for today from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Linden Depot Museum. The fair is a tribute to railroads past, present, and future. Enjoy the exhibits, the vendors, the food, and explore the museum and model railroad attractions. Prepare to be delighted as you watch the 1837 steam engine replica with a full crew and passengers. The museum has unique exhibits including marble stairs from the Chicago Union Station, a stone sleeper dating back to 1827 and a telltale used to warn workmen on top of box cars of approaching low bridges or tunnels. This is just a small sample of the adventure awaiting you at the Linden Depot Museum. Everyone is invited to the fair and railroad nostalgia at its finest! The museum is located at 520 N. Main Street in Linden. For more information, go to <http://www.lindendepotmuseum.org/>

Ask Rusty – Why Is Social Security Withholding My Monthly Payments?

Dear Rusty: I have been working since I started collecting Social Security when I turned 62. Last year I was apparently overpaid because of my job. I made $37,000 and now the Social Security Administration says I owe them $8,800 dollars because I made too much, and they have withheld my $2000 monthly SS payment. I am close to the maximum allowable already this year. So, I am looking at quitting my job so I don't go over, but they are holding my payments so then I would have no money. Any help would be appreciated. Signed: Frustrated by Social Security

Dear Frustrated: You are being affected by Social Security's "earnings test" which applies to everyone who collects early Social Security and also works before reaching their full retirement age (FRA). If your earned income exceeds the annual limit (which was $19,560 for 2022), Social Security will withhold $1 in benefits for every $2 you are over the limit. If you earned $37,000 in 2022

you were more than $17,000 over the limit and owe half of that back to Social Security. They usually recover what you owe by withholding your future benefit payments, so they won't pay you benefits until they have recovered that $8,800, after which your benefits will resume - but only for a while.

If you are working full time and also collecting early Social Security benefits, the earnings test lasts until you reach your full retirement age, which for you is 66 years and 8 months. The earnings limit goes up a bit each year - for 2023 it is $21,240 - but if you continue to work full time, you'll receive another overpayment notice and have more benefits withheld. A better approach might be to contact Social Security in advance and tell them what your 2023 earnings are expected to be, thus permitting them to suspend your benefits in advance and avoid overpaying you. I'm afraid there is no way around this - collecting early benefits while working full time means the "earnings test" will affect your benefit payments.

The "good news" in all of this is that when you reach your full retirement age, you will get time-credit for all months your benefits were withheld. By that I mean they will, at your FRA, recalculate your benefit entitlement as though you had claimed later (later by the number of months you had benefits withheld),

Artificial Intelligence Looms Over The Work Force But Experts Say Jobs Will Still Need 'Human Judgement'

By John Grimaldi

Arthur C. Clarke's classic sci-fi tale, 2001: A Space Odyssey, featuring a creepy computer named HAL, was made into a hit movie in 1968. Here we are, 55 years later, faced with what some are calling a scary, real life version of HAL. It's called Artificial Intelligence [AI], a computer technology that some are saying is capable of depriving future generations of jobs. Actually, an Indian company recently fired the better part of its workforce, replacing its employees with fake, AI workers. The 31-year-old CEO of the e-commerce company, Suumit Shah, callously Tweeted, "We had to lay off 90% of our support team because of this AI chatbot. Tough? Yes. Necessary? Absolutely."

Needless to say Shah took quite a bit of heat is an understatement. Social media was abuzz with criticism for what was seen as a heartless attitude. He took it in stride, however, with the message, "over time, everybody will start doing this." In fact, according to CNBC, Goldman Sachs says that 300 million jobs could be affected by artificial intelligence.

However, the same CNBC report quotes Sujith Abraham, senior VP of Salesforce ASEAN who says, "with its ability to supercharge human capabilities, AI should be used as a tool to empower the workforce rather than hindering or replacing them." However, he added, "it is not without risk. This aspect is embedded in our generative AI guidelines that help guide responsible development and implementation of this transformative technology, that includes human participation."

In reality, career coach Ashley Stahl says that, instead of machines taking away jobs in vast numbers in the future, "robots are probably not coming for your jobs, at least not yet." In an article she penned for Forbes magazine, she put it this way, "given how artificial in-

Life After Stroke; 5 Tips For Recovery And Daily Living

(Family Features) In the weeks and months immediately following a stroke, an early rehabilitation program offers the best possible recovery outcomes. While each person's stroke recovery journey is unique, starting the path toward rehabilitation as soon as it's medically safe allows stroke survivors to mitigate the lasting effects.

According to the American Stroke Association, a division of the American Heart Association, each year, approximately 800,000 people in the United States have a stroke. Strokes can happen to anyone, at any age. In fact, globally about 1 in 4 adults over the age of 25 will have a stroke in their lifetime.

Early Intervention

The rehabilitation and support a survivor receives can greatly influence health outcomes and recovery. The first three months after a stroke are especially critical. Although recovery may continue for years

Payne And Moore Awarded Title Of Road Builder

Crawfordsville Street Department employees Troy Payne and Chris Moore have been awarded the title of Road Builder through the Indiana Local Technical Assistance Program (LTAP). The LTAP was established and designed to help street departments, highway departments, and local elected officials improve transportation through training, technical assistance, and finding the latest new developments in technology and materials.

Payne joined Crawfordsville Street Department in 2008 and Moore joined in 2009. Both of them have worked their way up to their current positions of Street Foreman and MS4 Coordinator, respectively. Moore was appointed MS4 Coordinator in 2019 and Payne was appointed as Foreman this year.

Both Payne and Moore started LTAP in 2011 and have since been working through the requirements of the program which includes 12 core courses, elective conferences, and workshops for credit hours. To be awarded the title of Road Builder, like Payne and Moore, participants must complete all 12 core courses as well as 600 credit hours from conferences and workshops such as Road School, County Bridge Conferences, and civil engineering seminars.

The City of Crawfordsville values and appreciates the hard work, time, and dedication Moore and Payne have put into furthering their education and career. Both Moore and Payne have showed their dedication to improving their skills to continue bettering the work of the Crawfordsville Street Department.

“These two employees have worked hard and put in a lot of extra personal time to obtain these certifications as Road Builders. This education will benefit both departments substantially,” said City of Crawfordsville Street Commissioner, Mark Cox. “I have no doubt they will continue their education and obtain their Master Road Builders. We are very proud of both of them”.

Payne took a Pavement Surface Evaluation and Rating (PASER) class in 2014 and was certified in Asset Management/PASER in 2018. Payne shared that from 2011 to 2023 he spent time working on earning the title of Road Builder and he is now continuing his education and working towards earning the title Master Road Builder. To earn this, Payne must complete 600 credit hours in continued education through conferences and workshops.

Moore shares that since 2011 when starting the LTAP, he has been able to expand his knowledge and improved skills in roadway management techniques. Moore says that the LTAP offers many resources such as training, safety knowledge, research, asset management, and conferences.

Do Hoosier Farmers Have To Live With California Law? Indiana Attorney General Says No

Attorney General Todd Rokita this week called on Congress to enact legislation preventing states such as California from dictating rules to farmers and ranchers in Indiana.

"California's got every right to regulate agricultural practices within its own borders," Rokita said. "But it shouldn't have the authority to impose restrictions on farmers here in Indiana. If the U.S. Supreme Court doesn't recognize this basic reality, then Congress needs to take action."

In a letter sent Wednesday to congressional leaders, Rokita and other attorneys general call for passage of the Ending Agricultural Trade Suppression (EATS) Act — H.R.4417 in the U.S. House and S.2019 in the U.S. Senate.

In May, the U.S. Supreme Court upheld a California law that outlaws the sale of pork originating from sows housed in less than 24 square feet — even if such pork comes from out-of-state producers.

Rokita led a 26-state coalition in that case supporting the National Pork Producers Council and other petitioners contesting the California law.

"This law hurts Hoosier hog farmers by forcing them to change their livestock systems in order to sell to California markets," Rokita said. "Beyond that, it also hurts Indiana families everywhere by increasing the costs of bacon and ham at grocery stores."

Some small- and medium-sized pork producers could be forced to go out of business. California buys about 13 percent of the nation's pork.

Extending beyond the pork industry, the Supreme Court's decision paves the way for California and other states to similarly impose their will pertaining to other types of livestock production — and even other types of industries altogether.

On a philosophical level, Rokita said, the court's decision flies in the face of American federalism and free enterprise. In the letter to congressional leaders, Rokita and the other attorneys general noted that U.S. farmers already follow prudent techniques in raising livestock.

"American farmers and ranchers raise massive amounts of animal protein as affordably and humanely as possible," the letter states. "American farmers' techniques have developed over generations to constitute global best practices. No other country raises anywhere near as much delicious and high-quality pork."

Lt. Gov. Crouch, IHCDLA Launch Crowdfunding Campaign For Restoring And Preserving The Historic 1883 Train Depot

$12,500 goal to receive a matching grant through IHCDLA's CreatINg Places initiative.

Rockville will soon have a better space to welcome residents and guests if this crowdfunding campaign reaches its goal of raising $12,500 by Sep. 25, 2023. If successful, the project led by Parke County Inc. will receive a matching grant as part of the Indiana Housing and Community Development Authority's (IHCDLA) CreatINg Places program.

"The enhancement of Rockville's historic train depot will engage and educate residents and visitors alike," said Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch, Indiana's Secretary of Agriculture and Rural Development. "This campaign is the essence of the CreatINg Places initiative, blending a respect for the past with a vision for the future."

Funds from this campaign will be used to restore and preserve the exterior of the Historic 1883 Train Depot, which currently serves as the Parke County Visitors Center.

"Parke County Inc. is excited to launch this campaign in an effort to further preserve our beautiful, historic train depot for many years to come," said Neysa Jones, Parke County Inc. Executive Director. "We are lucky to have such a unique structure for daily operations of the Parke County Visitors Center. We hope the beautification of the exterior will encourage more visitors to stop by on a daily basis, especially during the Parke County Covered Bridge Festival - the largest festival in Indiana."

Since the CreatINg Places program began in 2016, projects have raised more than $9 million in public funds and an additional $7.3 million in matching IHCDLA funds. The program is available to projects located in Indiana communities. Non-profit entities (with 501c3 or 501c4 status) and local units of government are eligible to apply. Eligible projects must have a minimum total development cost of $10,000, where the recipient will receive $5,000 in IHCDLA matching funds should it successfully raise $5,000 through Patronicity. IHCDLA will provide matching grant funds up to $50,000 per project.

telligence has been portrayed in the media, in particular in some of our favorite sci-fi movies, it's clear that the advent of this technology has created fear that AI will one day make human beings obsolete in the workforce. After all, as technology has advanced, many tasks that were once executed by human hands have become automated. It's only natural to fear that the leap toward creating intelligent computers could herald the beginning of the end of work as we know it. But I don't think there is any reason to be so fatalistic."

Stahl cites a MIT Task Force report that says in the long run AI has its limitations. It can replicate "human intelligence in executing certain tasks, [but] its programs are typically only capable of 'specialized' intelligence, meaning they can solve only one problem, and execute only one task at a time. Often, they can be rigid, and unable to respond to any changes in input, or perform any 'thinking' outside of their prescribed programming. Humans, however, possess 'generalized intelligence,' with the kind of problem solving, abstract thinking and critical judgement that will continue to be important in business. [Thus] Human judgement will be relevant."

Earlier this week, the Vatican distributed a message regarding the dangers of AI and "the need to be vigilant and to work so that a logic of violence and discrimination does not take root in the production and use of such devices at the expense of the most fragile and excluded. The urgent need to orient the concept and use of artificial intelligence in a responsible way, so that it may be at the service of humanity and the protection of our common home, requires that ethical reflection be extended to the sphere of education and law."

which will result in a higher monthly payment after your FRA. In that way, you may eventually recover some or all of the benefits withheld by receiving a higher monthly amount for the rest of your life, starting at your full retirement age.

I suggest you contact Social Security at 1.800.772.1213 (or at your local office) and tell them you want to provide them with an estimate of your 2023 earnings because you are working and collecting early Social Security benefits. They will work with you to suspend your benefits for an appropriate number of (additional) months to avoid another overpayment situation. Note, you'll likely need to do this each year you continue to work full time, until the year you reach your full retirement age when the earnings limit more than doubles. The earnings limit goes away when you reach your full retirement age.

after a stroke, this time in the immediate aftermath of a stroke is when the brain is most-able to adjust to the damage done by the stroke so the survivor can learn new ways to do things.

Physical, Communication and Cognitive Changes

Following a stroke, a survivor may experience physical changes, such as fatigue, seizures, weakness or paralysis on one side of the body or spasticity, stiff or rigid muscles which may cause difficulty with completing daily activities and tasks. If experiencing fatigue, speak with your health care provider about ways to reduce it. Your care team may also be able to provide medications to help with seizures and spasticity. Physical therapy is also an option.

Challenges after a stroke depend on the severity and location of the stroke. In addition to various physical disabilities, stroke survivors may experience aphasia, communication and thought problems related to speaking, listening, understanding or memory. Planning, organizing ideas or making decisions can also be harder. "Remember to be patient when communicating with a stroke survivor," said Elissa Charbonneau, M.S., D.O., chief medical officer of Encompass Health and an American Stroke Association national volunteer. "The impact of a stroke on cognitive, speech and language can be significant and isolating. When connecting with a stroke survivor, some helpful practices include demonstrating tasks, breaking actions into smaller steps, enunciating, asking multiple choice questions and repetition."

Customized Rehabilitation

Once a stroke survivor's medical condition is stabilized and he or she is ready to leave the hospital, rehabilitation can help restore function and teach new ways to complete everyday tasks. Rehabilitation may take place in an inpatient facility, skilled nursing facility or long-term acute care facility. Outpatient clinics and home health agencies can also provide rehabilitative care in certain circumstances.

One patient's rehab journey might include therapy to improve balance, strength or mobility while another might need speech or other therapies. A rehabilitation designed for the individual is critical.

Preventing a Recurrence

After a first stroke, nearly 1 in 4 survivors will have another. Stroke survivors can help reduce their risk of having another stroke by working with their health care team to identify what caused the stroke and uncover personal risk factors.

Taking steps such as healthy eating, reducing sedentary time and taking medications as prescribed can help your brain and reduce your risk of a repeat stroke. Controlling conditions such as high blood pressure, diabetes and sleep apnea also reduce your risk of having another stroke.

Support During Your Journey

Caregivers and other loved ones can provide important long-term support during your recovery and rehabilitation.

Find resources for stroke rehab and recovery including the "Life After Stroke" guide, "Simply Good" cookbook and a support network to connect with other survivors at Stroke.org/Recovery.
